THE SHERIFF BLAMED.

Asked to Resign---Alleged Plot to Kill the King.

WHAT A BOTTLE CONTAINED

Our National Development—A Rush for Newly Opened Land.

BOTH CHILDREN WERE DROWNED

STROUDSBURG, June 18.—At a meeting of the Monroe county bar yesterday a resolution was adopted declaring that the escape from prison of the murderers, Grether and Aiello, was due to the continued and gross negligence of Sheriff V. G. Mervine, and requesting the sheriff to tender his resignation forthwith so that a competent successor may be appointed.

LONDON, June 18.—A sensational story was current in London last night of the discovery of a plot to assassinate King Edward. The story has created considerable discussion in newspaper and other circles, but it is lacking in anything like official confirmation.

According to the current report King Edward's sudden illness at Aldershot was not due to a cold but was merely an excuse for withdrawing his majesty from public functions owing to the discovery by Scotland yard detectives of a plot against his life. It is cited in confirmation of this story that King Edward's recovery when he was at Windsor Castle was as complete and speedy as his attack had been sudden.

MONTREAL, June 18.—A letter received here from Stilwell Parker, of Headship Harbor, N. S., states that on June 2nd a bottle was picked up 45 miles east of Halifax containing the following note written on a scrap of paper:

"Steamer Huronian turned over Sunday night in Atlantic. In small boat fourteen of us."

The Allan liner Huronian bound from Glasgow for St. John, N. B., sailed from the former port on February 7th and nothing up to this time has been heard of her, although several steamers have searched for traces of her.

PHILADELPHIA, June 18.—Hon. D. J. Hill, assistant secretary of state, delivered an address last night before the General Alumni Society of the University of Pennsylvania. His topic was "Our National Development." Among other things he said there was nothing so impressive in the latter half of the nineteenth century as our national development; the American people stand before the world as the champions of peace, justice and liberty, to whom the allusions of empire do not appeal.

POCATELLO, Idaho, June 18.—Exactly at 12 o'clock yesterday 1,300 men and boys of all ages rushed across the line of the ceded Fort Hall reservation and disappeared in a cloud of dust in their rush for homestead and mineral lands. Most of them were mounted on horses and ponies and a majority of them heavily armed. Probably a thousand persons departed later with pack animals. Before 2 o'clock Pocatello was practically deserted. Many signs of trouble were apparent before the starting signal was given. In scores of instances it was known that three or four men intended to locate on the same piece of land.

GETTYSBURG, June 18.—Dewey, aged 4 years, and Irene, aged 12 years, children of Jeremiah Small, were drowned near Hendricks station, this county, Monday night by falling into an abandoned stone quarry. The boy fell into the water and his sister in attempting to rescue him got beyond her depth and both were drowned.

Academy Prizes Distributed.

The prizes given by the Bellefonte Academy to the scholars were as follows:

The James Potter Hughes Mathematical prize of $10.00, given by Rev. J. P. Hughes, was awarded to Ralph Van Valin, of Unionville, and the Classical prize was equally divided between Merrill Russell, of Butler, and Elliott Vandevender, of Bellefonte.

—Rev. Geo. W. Leisher the efficient pastor of the Lutheran Church at Boalsburg, Shiloh and Pleasant Gap for about 14 years has resigned. His resignation has been brought about on account of ill health. Rev. Leisher will live retired for the present in order to recruit his health. He will move to Buffalo, New York where he has a son living.

OUR BOROUGH FATHERS.

Monday Night's Session Was a Short One—Borough Ordinances to be Revised.

The Town Council met Monday evening at 7:30, with President Reynolds occupying the chair and the following members present:

Messrs. Derstine, Cunningham, Whittaker, Kirk, Garrity, Potter and Kinsely.

The minutes being read and approved Council proceeded to discuss the business before them.

Burgess Blanchard reported the collecting of $35 in fines, which amount he turned in to Council. He also reported the bad condition of the Borough ordinances. They needed overhauling. They should be gone over and affirmed. A book of ordinances should be printed for convenience of Burgess, Councilmen and others.

Chairman Potter, of the Finance committee, reported receiving moneys for repairing boardwalks, cleaning snow last winter and from other sources.

Chairman Derstine, of the Street committee, reported cleaning sewers, repairing streets, etc.

The Market committee reported the curb market in a flourishing condition.

The Fire and Police and Nuisance committees had nothing to offer.

The Water Works Building committee reported progress in their work.

Borough Solicitor Fortney offered an opinion favorable to the meter system in assessing the water taxes. Council has a right to fix a certain rate per thousand gallons and if it is equitably fixed there should be no complaint. Council need not be frightened by threats of injunction suits, etc.

When new business was taken up the question of having the ordinances revised and printed was discussed. Mr. Potter moved that a committee be appointed with the Solicitor to revise the ordinances and get them in shape for printing. The motion was seconded by Mr. Derstine and carried.

Mr. Derstine reported the bad condition of the sewers near the school house commons on Lamb and Spring streets. They were ordered repaired.

Before adjourning President Reynolds appointed Messrs. Potter, Cunningham and Kirk, Borough Solicitor Fortney and Burgess Blanchard a committee to revise the ordinances.

The following bills were approved and orders drawn:

Bellefonte Gas Co. steam heat	$ 37.00
Street pay roll	45.65
Thos. Shaughnessy mkt clerk	1.00
H. B. Pontius 1 month as clerk, etc	12.84

Bound For Europe.

Hon. D. H. Hastings, accompanied by Mrs. Hastings, left Tuesday on the noon train for New York, and on Saturday morning at six o'clock they will sail for London, on the steamship Memphis of the Allen transportation Co.'s line. This line is controlled by J. P. Morgan Syndicate. They expect to reach London in about 10 days, and after remaining there one week will go to Carlsbad Springs, Germany, at which place they will remain four weeks, and after a short tour through the continent will sail for home, expecting to reach here about September first. We join, with their many friends in Bellefonte, in wishing them a pleasant journey and safe return.

During the absence of the General and Mrs. Hastings their beautiful and hospitable home will remain open. Miss Janie Hastings Hickok will have entire control, but will be assisted in doing the honors by her aunt, Miss Sarah Hastings. Mrs. Ross A. Hickok, of Harrisburg, will spend most of her time at the paternal mansion to see that there is no conflict of authority.

—Adam Hoover, a well-to-do farmer who lives near the Club House, called "The House of Lords" on Nittany mountain, had the misfortune while working in a stave mill to have three of the fingers on his left hand cut off. Mr. Hoover, is one of company B's up to date cooks and if he cannot go along with the boys to Gettysburg, in July, they will miss many good meals. We hope he will speedily recover.

—E. A. Zeigler, son of Thomas Zeigler, and a graduate of Franklin and Marshall College, has been elected principal of the Rebersburg public schools. The salary has been reduced from $60.00 to $45.00. The prior instructor was Prof. W. H. Morris.

ROOT STANDS FOR IT

Assumes Full Responsibility for Payment of Money to General Gomez.

WAR DEPARTMENT'S STATUS

Had the Cuban Not Been Furnished a Home and Income Situation Would Have Been Acute.

MIGHT HAVE HAD TO FIGHT CUBANS

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Secretary Root has assumed full responsibility for the payment of money to General Gomez by General Wood during the American occupation of Cuba and if congress asks for an explanation of the matter he stands prepared to furnish what he regards as the most convincing proofs that the payments were dictated by the wisest statesmanship.

At the war department a high official stated the position of the department in the matter as follows:

"The conditions in Cuba two years ago were precarious. Not a cuban believed that the United States government ever would withdraw from Cuba and the half-famished veterans of the Cuban army were in a dangerous mood and clamoring for their pay. General Gomez was the head and front of their army and had served the revolutionary cause as its principal leader without having received a cent of pay. General Woods thought, and Secretary Root thought afterwards, that General Gomez was entitled to consideration, to a home which was supplied him and in which he entertained his comrades, and to an income which, at least, might be set down as a small offset to the money due Gomez from the Cuban republic. That the Cubans themselves regarded the matter in the same light was shown by the passage by the present Cuban congress, among the very first of its acts, of a bill providing a liberal pension for General Gomez. It is believed that but for this assumption of the costs of Gomez's living expenses, the conditions in Cuba might have paralleled those in the Philippines, and the United States, after fighting Spain to secure freedom for the Cubans, might have been obliged to turn on them the force of her armies.

"The necessity being present then, in Secretary Root's view, the only other point was the legality and propriety of the payments. He soon satisfied himself that there was not the slightest doubt on that score. The military governor was obliged to assume the responsibility for his disbursements and to exercise his discretion. General Brooke did this and after him General Wood, and Secretary Root now fully approves offering aid, including the payments to Gomez."

It is pointed out at the war department as a curious fact that congress has been in full possession of the information that Gomez had been receiving these payments for no less than two years past. The war department that far back submitted to congress the full statement of all expenditures in Cuba and included in the list was a statement of the payment to General Gomez.

Meeting of The School Board.

The first meeting of the School Board under the new regime was held Monday night. President G. W. Rees was in the chair. All the members were present with the exception of Hon. W. C. Heinle, John P. Harris, Esq., and H. C. Quigley, Esq. There was no business transacted with the exception of appointing standing committees for the ensuing year, except that the Finance Committee was instructed to report at the next meeting the millage, which will be required to pay expenses. The following is a list of the Committees. They have been selected with great care and show that the President knew what he was about, but as each member is on three committees, with the exception of himself and Secretary Quigley, there cannot be great cause for complaint, or of favoritism being shown. The committees are as follows:

Finance—Fortney, J. P. Harris, W. H. Criesman.

Accounts—Heinle, Criesman, Hard P. Harris.

Supplies—Quigley, Hard P. Harris, Heinle.

Repairs—Hard P. Harris, A. C. Mingle, Darius Waite.

Grounds—Waite, Fortney, John P. Harris.

High School—John P. Harris, Fortney, Rees.

Texts Books—Criesman, Mingle, Quigley.

Library and Books—A. C. Mingle. Heinle, Waite.

CHILDREN'S DAY.

Beautiful Exercises Held in the M. E. Church Sunday.

Sunday was Children's Day in the Methodist Episcopal church and beautiful and appropriate services were held.

In the morning at 10:30 o'clock, the pastor, Rev. Wilford P. Shriner, D. D. preached a most excellent sermon to children on the subject "Growing." Sunday school was held as usual at 2:30 p. m. concluding with a baptismal service at 3:30 at which seven children were baptized according to the impressive ritual of the M. E. church.

In the evening commencing at 7 o'clock the Sunday School rendered a splendid program entitled "A Tribute to Flowers." Supt. Wilson I. Fleming presided and announced the different numbers on the program. The large choir which was augumented by additions from other churches was under the capable direction of J. P. Smith. Christy Smiths orchestra was present and their music added greatly to the effect and impressiveness of the service.

The church was crowded with people at every service in spite of the sultriness of the weather. The decorations were something fine. Beautiful flowers were everywhere. As you entered the church you were met by flower girls who pinned button hole bouquets upon the lapel of your coat. The pulpit and chancel were one mass of beautiful flowers and potted plants.

The service opened with singing by the choir after which prayer was offered by J. Victor Royer Esq. A very pretty exercise followed which was participated in by children of the primary and intermediate departments. The children marched down the side aisles to the platform. They were attired in white and on their heads were garlands of roses. The speaking part in this exercise was taken by Miss Nellie Conley.

Harris Olewine gave a very fine recitation which he had well memorized and delivered in a distinct voice.

A cross exercise followed participated in by Laura Faxon, Laura Harrison, Florence Lowry, and Emma Shriner. It was very pretty and well rendered.

The choir then sang "Summer Day" the solo part being taken very creditably by Miss Ione Donachy.

There was a recitation by Miss Florence Tanner and a song by the primary department.

Little Martha Barnhart then sang very sweetly a song entitled "All for Jesus".

Diplomas and testaments were then presented by Dr. Shriner to Bella and Hazel Johnson and Nellie Solt on their graduating from the Primary department of the Sunday school.

This was followed by a short address by the pastor who spoke of the excellent work accomplished by the Sunday School. He ended by calling for a collection for the Cokesbury Guild which was then taken up. The services were then brought to a close by singing and the benediction.

Great credit is due to Miss Mary Meek and Mrs. F. W. Crider, who so carefully trained the children for Sunday nights exercises.

To Supt. Fleming and his corp of teachers is also due a high measure of praise for the success of this Sunday School which now has a membership of over three hundred pupils the largest of any Sunday School in town.

A Narrow Escape.

On Friday afternoon a lady was walking on the P. R. R. track, near the bridge over the Buffalo Run, just East of Mr. Isaac Mitchell's residence, and the noise caused by a Central R. R. train, passing over the viaduct, prevented her from hearing the approach from behind, of the Bald Eagle passenger train at 4:44 p. m. As she began to cross the bridge the passenger engineer, seeing her danger, sounded an alarm with the whistle, reversed his engine, applied the air brakes and sanded the track doing all in his power to avert a dreadful catastrophe. His efforts to stop the train were futile, and had it not been that she got across the bridge and providentially stepped to one side just as the pilot of the engine was within a few feet of her, we would have been compelled to chronicle a dreadful accident.

When will people learn wisdom, and remember the fact, that the railroad is intended for trains of cars, and not for pedestrians, and if people will persist in walking on the track, they must abide the consequences. A train of cars cannot be stopped when running at a fair rate of speed, with in a few feet, even though the engineer makes every effort in his power to do so. We will venture to say that this lady of whom we write will use the turnpike the next time she travels that direction.

GILDAY'S OPINIONS.

President of Central Pennsylvania Bituminous District Talks to Reporter.

THE MOVEMENT IN SOFT COAL

Very Little of It Going Into the Anthracite Region and the Reasons That It Is Not.

WHY HE CONSULTED WITH MITCHELL

WILKESBARRE June 16.—Patrick Gilday, president of the Central Pennsylvania bituminous district of the United Mine Workers of America, who came here to consult President Mitchell on a matter local to his district, in a talk with a correspondent of the Associated Press yesterday gave an insight as to what the soft coal miners in his territory, at least, are doing to help their brother workmen in the anthracite field.

Mr. Gilday said there are 42,000 soft coal miners in his district and every one of them is taking a deep interest in the struggle now going on in this region. On the second day of the strike Mr. Gilday sent out instructions to every checkweighman and pit committeeman at the mines in his district to prevent the shipment of soft coal into anthracite territory, and thus far, he said, very little coal from his district has taken the place of anthracite.

"There have been only four attempts by unionized mines to send soft coal to the anthracite markets," he said, "and in each case we prevented its shipment. One order was intended for Mount Cermel, Pa., two for Philadelphia and one for New York. As soon as our men at the mines learned the intended destination of the coal we requested the mine owners not to send it and they complied with the request. To have refused would have meant a strike at that particular operation.

"We are not interfering with the normal shipment of soft coal. If one of the hard coal carrying railroad companies should attempt to increase the number of cars of soft coal over the amount it had been getting before the anthracite strike began then we will interfere and request the mining officials not to fill the order."

President Gilday said he had no personal knowledge that the other bituminous district presidents were doing the same as himself, but he felt sure they were. There is some soft coal coming into market from Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Virginia, but it is mostly of non-union production.

When asked regarding the feeling in his territory as to a general strike to help the hard coal miners, Mr. Gilday said:

"Our men will do whatever President Mitchell says. They can have our financial support, and if Mr. Mitchell sees fit to ask our men to lay down their picks they will do it promptly. I do not believe, however, there will be a general strike of the soft coal miners, because the anthracite men are going to win without it."

Asked as to how the miners expected to win in view of the fact that they have practically reached the limit of their resources in this region in pressing the operators and the latter still stand out firmly, he replied:

"By the slow destruction of mine property. By that I mean that if they do not give the men the hours and pay they ask for they will not consent to go into the mines and preserve the operations. The collieries will fill if the strike is not soon ended and the mines will begin to squeeze or cave in. All the timbermen are out and the timber which holds up the roofs of mines will soon begin to give way. These squeezes will cost thousands of dollars to repair and when the investors' pockets begin to feel it, a change in the attitude of the operators will soon come."

Col. W. Fred Reynolds Honored.

The Right Reverend Thomas Underwood Dudley, Bishop of Kentucky has appointed our townsman, Col. W. Fred Reynolds, a member of the Board of Inquiry to investigate the charges against the Right Rev. Ethelbert Talbot, Bishop of Central Pennsylvania. Bishop Talbot is charged by Rev. Dr. Irvine that he wrongfully unfrocked a priest to gratify the malice of a woman, and that he disturbed the peaceful relations of St. John's parish at Huntingdon.

These are only two of the eleven specifications against the Bishop. The case has attracted great attention throughout our country, and a sensational trial is promised when it comes before the Ecclesiastical court, which will take place in Harrisburg, commencing July 1st.

An Important Event.

There was but little editorial work done Tuesday in the sanctum of the "Democratic Watchman. Everything was topsy turvy, and if you had wanted your name placed on their subscription list and accompany the order with the cash it would not be received, all of which was owing to the fact that the stork paid a visit to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas King Morris at Tyrone Monday night and left one of the dearest and sweetest little baby boys that ever was left at any home. Grandpap Meek is just about two inches and a quarter taller than he was Monday, for it is the first time he ever was a grandpap, and he is feeling his oats. If he doesn't do something reckless before the week is over we will be greatly surprised. He wanted Burgess Blanchard to order a half holiday in honor of the event, but we hardly think he will do it, as it might be a bad precedent to establish.

We extend our congratulations, Senator, and hope this little youngster may be spared to grow to manhood, and always emulate the example, which will be set him, by his much respected Grandpap. George on the contrary is not so gay, as he will now be required to take a back seat, up to this time he has been the baby boy of the family, and hereafter he will come in only, as a good second. We don't know how Thomas King, the illustrious papa, will take the matter, but we will venture to say that after a few months have gone by, he will discover that whilst he has drawn a great prize, that it is not all gold that glitters.

A Valuable Horse, Phaeton and Harness Stolen.

Sunday night Miss Carrie Holt, who resides with her mother, Mrs. Ella Holt, at Roland, had a valuable horse, buggy and harness stolen from their stable. It is believed they were taken sometime between ten and eleven o'clock as Miss Holt came in from a drive at that hour and put the horse away herself, giving it fresh feed. In the morning when she went to the stable the horse was gone and the feed untouched.

The horse was a sorrel with a black spot on the side of its neck as large as a hand. The phaeton and harness were in good condition. The horse was valued at $100.

Anyone having any information in regard to the matter will confer a favor by communicating with Miss Carrie Holt at Roland, Pa.

UNCLAIMED LETTER LIST.

The following letters remain in the Bellefonte Post Office uncalled for June 16, 1902:

Mrs. W. E. Brown, J. R. Bolmer, John B. Brownley, J. Finegold, T. James Fernley, Harry Hughes, Daisy Haines (2), Mrs. Mary Kline, G. W. B. Kress, J. E. Kelly (2), Mrs. J. R. Lankerley, Thomas Pence, Lester Straub (2), John C. Smith, Mrs. Albert Thompson.

FOREIGN LETTER.

W. W. MONTGOMERY, P. M.

Death of Mrs. Sophia Taylor.

Mrs. Sophia Taylor, widow of John R. Taylor, died at the home of her only survivor, John J. Taylor, east of Centre Hall. The burial took place Friday afternoon in the Union cemetery, services at 1 o'clock, at the house. Her age was almost eighty-two years. Dropsy coupled with old age was the cause of her death.

The deceased, whose maiden name was Sophia Weaver, was the second wife of Mr. Taylor.

—Mrs. Joshua T. Potter, of near Centre Hall, recently jumped from a spring wagon while in motion, and broke her arm in two places between the wrist and elbow. Mr. Potter and the family were on their way to church, and in passing through the farm lane the neckyoke became detached, and fearing a wreck, Mrs. Potter jumped from the moving wagon with the above noted result. Dr. Lee reduced the fracture.

—The members of the Methodist church at Centre Hall, during the past two weeks gave their church home a general "brightening up." The interior was thoroughly cleaned and new carpet placed about the pulpit, altar and aisles. Only a short time ago a new organ was purchased and new altar furniture was substituted for the old.

—The farmers, and in fact every one, have great cause for thankfulness that the drouth, which has been retarding the growth of all vegetation, is at last broken and we are having copious showers, which is making everything come on with a jump.

BLOOMS THAT POISON

ODORS OF FLOWERS THAT ARE HARMFUL TO HEALTH.

Beware of the Poppy, as It Contains Opium and Induces Drowsiness. Tulips That Are Dangerous and Produce Light Headedness.

The majority of people think that the tulip has no smell, and this is true of a great number of the fashionable variegated kinds. The old self colored sorts, however, particularly those of a deep crimson hue, have a powerful odor, which is dangerous when inhaled. This odor is of saffron flavor and affects many people in a very peculiar manner. If breathed deeply, it has the effect of producing light headedness, which continues for some time, causing the sufferer to do and say all manner of remarkable and ridiculous things. Its influence often lasts for an hour or two and is followed by deep depression.

Another common flower whose odor has evil properties is the poppy. This is doubtless due to the quantity of opium which the blossom contains. Numbers of individuals, especially young ladies of highly strung temperament, complain of the drowsy sensation which comes after walking through a field of these flowers and afterward of violent headaches and a disinclination to move about. In Asia Minor, where the poppy is grown in vast quantities for the purpose of extracting the drug, tourists are frequently incapacitated for many hours after inspecting a poppy plantation, and two cases of death among English tourists were traced to the same cause last year.

All flowers grown from bulbs are dangerous in rooms where there is illness. Although bunches of flowers are invariably taken as presents to patients, such blooms as hyacinths, lilies of the valley, tuberoses and even daffodils and narcissuses should be carefully avoided. The perfume is as dangerous to a person in a critical state of health as a dose of morphia would be, without possessing the benefits which that drug sometimes confers.

Perhaps the most remarkable effect which any garden flower has on the human body is that which follows the handling of the particular variety of primula known as obconica. Experienced gardeners are always careful to wear gloves when potting this plant, as, should there be ever such a slight scratch or prick on the hands or fingers, evil results are almost certain to follow.

The first noticeable result is a slight itching of the hands and arms, and this precedes the breaking out of a skin disease which frequently extends to the body. It dies away in the autumn when the leaves fall, and by Christmas the sufferer is free, but the primula has by no means finished its deadly work. When spring comes again and the sap rises in plants and trees, the dread disease makes its reappearance and continues all through the summer.

This continues for many years, frequently for the whole of the victim's lifetime, and there is no known remedy for it, although years of the most rigid dieting have in some cases produced a diminution in its violence.

If blood poisoning by the primula obconica does not take this form, it brings about the still more dreadful erysipelas. Cases of poisoning through eating the berries of the belladonna, or deadly nightshade, are all too frequent, but there is the gravest danger in even handling this attractive plant.

It is a very common practice in the country among parties of young people to pick the berries and flick them at each other with the fingers for sport. Then, when heated by the fun and fusillade, the face is sometimes mopped with a handkerchief upon which fingers sticky with the juice of the berries have been wiped.

Should but just a little of this get into one of the eyes a fearful calamity may ensue. Iritis, or paralysis of the iris of the eye, which invariably results in blindness, has been known to come on, and against this dread disease medical skill has as yet proved unavailing. This, too, is in face of the paradoxical fact that treatment with tincture of belladonna is the one usually adopted in the elementary stages of iritis.

The dainty heroine who is so often to be heard of as idly plucking to pieces the petals of a flower must beware which blossoms she chooses for the purpose. Lilies, begonias, rhododendrons and peonies are likely to set up festers, with consequent loss of finger nails, if treated in this way.—London Answers.

Russia's Many Holidays.

In addition to the fifty-two Sundays Russia has about thirty-nine holidays or feast days of the church. They are kept as rigidly almost as a London Sunday. Business ceases except in nooks and corners, while drunkenness, the bane of the Russian, cripples work for twenty-four or forty-eight hours after each feast. In round numbers there are thirty days on which the western world works while the Russian stands idle.—Scribner's Magazine.

Dog's Fate Not Such a Happy One.

TWO ODD FISHES.

The Changeable Pink Hind and the Rainbow Hued Parrot Fish.

The clear, limpid waters that surround Bermuda and the West Indies lie above coral reefs covered with plants and animals, many of which are brilliant in color as a rainbow. They look like glimpses of fairyland, and as your eye wanders from one wonder to another you catch yourself striving to peek just around some corner into a strange nook, half hoping to see a bevy of mermen and mermaids sporting and playing within the crannies. Here is a patch of pale green sea lettuce, there a group of great purple sea fans, yonder some golden corals standing out like a shelf or branching like a tree, while among them all swim lovely fishes that take the place of the fairies that should dwell in this magic land and fascinate you by their gorgeous colors and their graceful, wavy motions.

There is a great green "parrot fish," as brilliant in color as his namesake the bird, showing himself boldly and swimming along slowly, secure from any assault. His scales are green as the fresh grass of springtime, and each one is bordered by a pale blown line. His fins are pink, and the end of the tail is banded with nearly every color of the rainbow. He is showy, but this showiness serves him a good purpose. His flesh is bitter and poisonous to man and probably so to other fishes as well, and they let him well alone, for they can recognize him afar off, thanks to his gaudy dress.

Underneath the parrot, lying on the bottom, is a "pink hind." You notice him, and as the parrot passes over him he suddenly changes to bright scarlet and as quickly resumes his former faint color. Had the parrot been looking for his dinner and thought the hind would make a good first course this sudden change of color might have scared him off, just as the sudden bristling of a cat makes a dog change his mind. When the hind is disturbed at night, he gives out flashes of light to startle the intruder and send him away in a fright.—Professor C. L. Bristol in St. Nicholas.

THE HOLY CITY.

Jerusalem Still Resembles a Great Fortress of Middle Ages.

Jerusalem is literally "builded upon its own heap." Below the houses, courts and paved streets of the present unkempt city are the distinguishable remains of eight older cities—those of Solomon, Nehemiah, Herod, Hadrian, Constantine, Omar, Godfrey, Saladin, Suleman—writes Walter Williams from the Holy City to his paper in Columbia, Mo.

Jerusalem has been besieged twenty-seven times, a record of vicissitude unparalleled in the history of the world's cities. It has been burned, sacked, razed to the ground, its inhabitants of every faith put to the sword, all the woes uttered by its own prophets against it have come to pass, yet Jerusalem still resembles a great fortress of the middle ages. Seen from the Mount of Olives, its massive gray walls, its flat roofed houses, its mosques and churches with their conspicuous towers and minarets, present a marvelous picture, beautiful, sublime, unfading, from the picture gallery of the mind.

The city itself has narrow, dirty streets. The water supply for its 70,000 people comes in a four inch pipe. The open courts are few and small, and the houses are bunched together with no regard for room or cleanliness. Some houses are underground and others on top of the high inclosing walls. The people are fanatical, ignorant, selfish. There is much to detract from the ideal city, but despite all this and more Jerusalem from the Mount of Olives is the same in its essential details, the same in the framework of its setting, the same in fascinating suggestion, as the Jerusalem of which David sang and over which Jesus wept.

Points About a Good Horse.

There are some points which are valuable in horses of every description. The head should be proportionately large and well set on. The lower jawbones should be sufficiently far apart to enable the head to form an angle with the neck, which gives it free motion and a graceful carriage and prevents it bearing too heavily on the hand. The eye should be large, a little prominent, and the eyelids fine and thin. The ear should be small and erect and quick in motion. The lop ear indicates dullness and stubbornness. When too far back, there is a disposition to mischief.

Hid Her Love.

Charles Dickens, though he married Catherine, one of George Hogarth's three daughters, in 1836, was later devotedly attached to her sister Mary. Why he did not marry Mary in the first place is not certainly known unless it be that Mary, a young woman of great loveliness of character, had successfully concealed her own affection for Catherine's betrothed in order to save her sister from disappointment. Percy Fitzgerald, a friend of Dickens, expressed this idea in an article in Harper's Magazine entitled "Dickens In His Books.".

FASCINATING DANGER.

The Perils That Beset the Builders of Big Bridges.

The design of a long bridge span is one of the most elaborate mathematical problems that arise in constructive work. The stresses produced by its own weight, by the weight of traffic, by locomotive drivers, by the hammering of flattened wheels, by the action of brakes on an express train, by the high speed on a curved track, by the wind and by the expansion and contraction of the steel in summer and winter are all accurately calculated. The deflection of the loaded and unloaded bridge is determined, and complete drawings are made of every member of it. The bars of steel are tested in machines which will pull in two a horsehair or a steel bar strong enough to lift half a score of the heaviest locomotives at once, and which will crush an eggshell or a steel column, and accurately measure the stress in each case. The different kinds of members are forged, riveted, bored, or planed in perhaps half a dozen remote shops, and, although usually not fitted together there, are examined and measured by specialists to see that they are correct, and are then shipped by scores of carloads to the site of the proposed structure, where steam derricks unload them and pile them many feet high in stacks covering acres of ground.

The bridge piers may rise above the water hundreds of feet apart. It remains to place them on a thousand ton structure, high above a savage chasm, over an impassable current or roaring tide, where the water is deep, the bottom of jagged rocks or treacherous quicksand, or where an old bridge must be removed and the new one built in its place without interrupting traffic on the bridge. To accomplish this the engineer has timber, bolts and ropes, hoisting engines, derricks and a band of intrepid builders who have perhaps followed him for years through more hardship and danger than fall to the lot of almost any other calling.

The complicated framework of a great span is a skeleton with many accurate joints and thousands of steel sinews and bones, each of which must go in exactly the right place in exactly the right order. The builder must weave into the trusses pieces larger, heavier and far more inflexible than whole tree trunks, swiftly hoist and swing them to place hundreds of feet high, fit together the massive girders and huge forged bars with watchmaker's accuracy, support the unwieldy masses until they are keyed together and self sustaining, and under millions of pounds of stress must adjust them at dizzy heights to mathematical lines. This he may need to do not deliberately, but in dangerous emergencies, at utmost speed, putting forth his whole strength on narrow, springing planks in a furious tempest, in bitter cold or in blazing heat. He may be in the heart of an African desert, menaced by bloodthirsty fanatics, or in a gorge of the Andes, hundreds of miles from tools or supplies, where there is absolutely no supplement to his own resources. Under such conditions bridge building is one of the most fascinating and difficult of engineering problems and requires a different solution for almost every case.—Frank W. Skinner in Century.

Bells.

It was long a fixed idea that silver mixed with the bell metal improved the tone, but this is now considered incorrect. The Acton Nightingale and Silver Bell, two singularly sweet bells at St. John's college, Cambridge, are said to have a mixture of silver, but if true this is not believed by competent authorities to be the cause of their beautiful tone. This idea led to the story of the monk Tandio concealing the silver given him by Charlemagne and casting the bell in the monastery of St. Paul of inferior metal, whereupon he was struck by the clapper and killed. In the ninth century bells were made in France of iron. They have been cast in steel, and the tone has been found nearly equal in fineness to that of the bell metal, but, having less vibration, was deficient in length, and thick glass bells have been made which give a beautiful sound, but are too brittle to long withstand the strokes of the clapper.—Gentleman's Magazine.

The Inventor of the Match.

The first match was the product of the ingenuity of John Frederick Komerer, who early in the nineteenth century was imprisoned in the penitentiary at Hohenasperg, in Germany. He invented the lucifer match while in his gloomy dungeon. The German government forbade the manufacture of matches on the ground of public policy, because some children playing with them had caused a fire. Komerer was ruined by Viennese competition when he was released from prison and died a pauper. Up to 1862 the Vienna manufacturers controlled the match business of the entire world.

OSTRICH TACTICS.

Big Bird That Displayed as Much Cunning as an Apache Indian.

A well known hunter and taxidermist tells this story of personal experience in South Africa; it goes far beyond dispelling a slander that has long clouded the fair name of the ostrich:

Arriving at one of the monster hills of the white ant, I climbed upon it and raised my observation glasses to my eyes for a careful survey of the region. My first glance showed me, arising from the dead level of the plain beyond, two objects, each having the form of a capital S. These I knew were the heads and necks of two ostriches. Though I believed they had sighted me, I remained immovable until their necks were suddenly drawn down to the level of the tops of the bushes which screened their bodies. Then I knew for a certainty that they were aware of my presence and would make a quick retreat.

"Without losing an instant's time I ran to the spot where the birds had been standing and found their tracks. These I followed as far as they were distinguishable and then took a course which I believed the birds would naturally follow. No sooner had I reached the top of the ravine than I saw one of the ostriches climbing the side hill. Estimating the distance, I took sight and fired. The ball passed immediately between his legs and struck in the sand of the side hill behind him.

"In an instant the bird darted away like an arrow in the direction of a small clump of bushes in the center of an open space. That he would pause behind this bush and then finally emerge on the other side seemed certain, and I aimed to catch him as he made a fresh start from behind the thorn. He flew over the sand at a terrific rate and reached the bushes. Then I waited fully five minutes for him to emerge from his hiding, with my rifle ready sighted so that I could pull the trigger the second he reappeared, but finally went forward to rout him out. When I reached the clump of bushes, an examination of the sand showed that the crafty old bird had shifted his course at a right angle, making the turn so suddenly that his feet had plowed up the sand for a distance of several inches. This wary tact had placed the bushes between the bird and myself, and he had made his way to new cover while I was innocently waiting for him on the other side of the ambush. An Apache Indian could not have executed this maneuver more cleverly, and I smiled at myself for having ever been foolish enough to believe the traditional story of how the silly ostrich buries his head in the sand and believes that he is thereby concealed."—Philadelphia Post.

SOME WRITERS.

Goldsmith wrote the "Vicar of Wakefield" in six weeks. It is said to have been a story of his own recollections.

Thomas Dunn English wrote "Ben Bolt" in 1843, and some fifty years later George Du Maurier made the tender song famous the world over.

It has been mentioned as a proof of Alexander Pope's love of economy that he wrote most of his verses on scraps of paper and particularly on the backs of letters.

Charlotte Bronte's "Jane Eyre" was rejected by nearly every publisher in England before it scored one of the greatest literary successes in the world's history.

Whittier, the poet, it is reported, said to the doctors in attendance a day or two before his death, "You have done the best possible, and I thank you; but it is of no use—I am worn out."

The poet Heine on the day after his marriage drew up a will in which he bequeathed all he possessed to his wife on condition that she married again. He desired, he said, that at least one man should regret his death.

The Arab Mother's Advice.

When an Arab damsel gets married, her mother gives her the following advice for securing her future happiness: "You are leaving your nest to live with a man with whose ways and habits you are unfamiliar. I advise you to become his slave if you wish to become the absolute mistress of your husband. Be satisfied with little, endeavor to feed him well and watch over his sleep, for hunger begets anger, and sleeplessness makes a man crossbrained. Be dumb as to his secrets, do not appear gloomy when he is merry nor merry when he is sad, and Allah shall bless you."

A Way Old Acquaintances Have.

"It is too bad," said the visitor from home, "but people who acquire wealth are not the same to their old friends."

"Perhaps there is a reason for that," replied Mrs. Cumrox reminiscently. "People who acquire wealth have feelings the same as any one else, and their old friends sometimes have a very superior way of saying: 'Humph! I knew them when they were as poor as Job's turkey!'"—Washington Star.

Cabbage Worms.

As a remedy against cabbage worms mix a tablespoonful of red pepper, one of black pepper and of ground yellow mustard with a pound of wheat flour. Once a week dust each cabbage with the prepared flour while the plants are moist with dew. A pound of flour will answer for dusting about 200 plants.

WERE SHOT AT.

A Number of Unknown Men Attempt to Take the Lives of Six Others.

LATTER ON A LOCOMOTIVE

When the Firing Began They Promptly Dropped to the Floor of the Engine Cab and Tank.

IN THIS MANNER THEY ESCAPED

WILKESBARRE, June 13.—A number of unknown men lying in ambush attempted to take the lives of six men on a locomotive. They were coming from the William A. colliery, of the Lehigh Valley Coal company, at Duryea, Wednesday night. They did not succeed because of the promptness with which the attacked party dropped to the floor of the engine and tender, thus escaping the bullets and buckshot. The details of the affair were made public yesterday. The company for the last four days has been annoyed by crowds gathering on a hill overlooking the colliery and throwing stones at the men within the place. In order not to create trouble the company kept its employes in a safe place and did not attempt to disperse the crowds. Superintendents who have had occasion to go in and out of the colliery have been using a locomotive to carry them safely through the settlement. Wednesday night as Division Superintendent Thomas, an engineer, fireman, conductor and two flagmen, were coming from a colliery on a locomotive, unknown men opened fire when the engine was about 300 yards from the breaker. The occupants of the locomotive had been expecting such an attack, and they speedily got out of range by dropping to the floor of the engine and tender. The locomotive's throttle had been pulled wide open by the engineer and the men were soon out of range of the shooters. The engine and tender were pretty well marked up by the bullets and buckshot and the window panes of the cob were broken. As far as can be learned the Lehigh Valley officials do not know who the men under cover were, but a rigin investigation is being made.

The mine workers' officials have been making a strong effort to have the strikers at Duryea and vicinity prevent any violence. Several men have been sent there to talk to the strikers and Thursday afternoon District President T. D. Nicholls went himself to see what he can do. It is likely that he will be able to put a stop to the demonstrations that have been going on there during this week.

The Wyoming Valley yesterday was unusually quiet. Neither the strike leaders nor the mining superintendents had anything to say, they reporting the situation to be without change. President Mitchelll had no news to give out regarding the soft coal strike in West Virginia.

The Susquehanna Coal company suffered a heavy loss yesterday when all of its engineers with the exception of two quit work. The two men at work are employed at the pumps which pump the water into the town reservoir. For nearly two weeks the strike leaders have been working to get the Susquehanna engineers to come out, but did not succeed until yesterday.

Deafness Cannot be cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the information can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

Col. Teller Enters a Protest.

From Daily News.

We do not propose using the columns of the DAILY NEWS for political purposes, but exigencies may sometimes arise, when something savoring of politics might appear, and we are up against one just now. Whilst we endorse the sentiment, it is beyond us to refuse our old time friend, Col. W. R. Teller, the request he has made, that we insert in our paper, the following protest:

To Hon. M. S. Quay,
Washington, D C.

In behalf of free Cuba, we protest against the action of the Republican Convention, which assembled at Harrisburg, this week, and placed in nomination for Governor of the great State of Pennsylvania, a man so pure, personally and politically, as, is Judge Pennypacker, and call upon you, in the name of all that is fair in politics, to reconvene that body, and name some one, who will allow a fighting chance for the Democratic party.

State College Commencement Notes.

Mr. Charles M. Schwab was the lion of the day at the college and was constantly followed by a crowd who were anxious to see the greatest of men. Mrs. Schwab accompanied her husband and was on the platform during the graduation exercise, and was presented to the audience by Dr. Atherton.

The next greatest attraction after Mr. and Mrs. Schwab, at the exercises in the chapel, Wednesday morning, was a great big smile, about a foot square. Upon closer examination we discovered Judge Beaver behind it. He was as happy as a boy with a pocket full of fishing worms and a rod and line and would not have exchanged his position as president of the Board of College Trustees for all the United States Steel Corporation stock you could haul in a wagon. But why shouldn't he be happy? Just to think! $60,000; $20,000 and $100,000 all in one day. He is just now, after years of work and waiting, beginning to realize his fondest hope for the future of State.

Col. John A. Woodward was one of the prominent figures at the Commencement. He takes a lively interest in anything relating to the college and is one of the trustees of the institution.

The editor is greatly indebted and under obligations to William P. Humes, Esq., for his courtesy in procuring for us an admittance ticket to the graduating exercises.

We are a little new in the business, but have always thought the printer was remembered on occasions of this kind. It was probably an oversight, however; but all the same, ticket or no ticket, we will boost State College every time, and to the best of our ability. We will give you to understand that Charley Schwab is not the only one who helped you out of your troubles and stood by you, and besides it is not in us to bear spite.

Since Mr. Schwab has donated $60,000 for the College chapel, Mr. Gilbert A. White $20,000 for scholarships, and Mr. Carnegie $100,000 for a library, will not some wealthy philanthropist erect a hospital; for unless Phil. Foster, of the University Inn, lowers the telephones in his office about a foot the entire College community and patrons of the hotel will be laid up with dislocated necks. They are now so near the ceiling that you either have to use stilts or a step-ladder to reach them. The Kentucky giant could probably, with a little inconvenience, talk at them, but not so the ordinary sized man.

Mr. Schwab, in the course of his remarks Wednesday, said that whenever he felt his head getting a little too big he would just recall an incident that occurred a short time ago. He was going home from one of the steel works to dinner. His colored boy had brought his horse and buggy for him, so he got in and sat with the driver. As they were driving along they passed a woman and little girl. The woman remarked to the child that there was Mr. Schwab. The child looked for a moment at both the colored driver and himself, then turning to her mother, innocently inquired, which one is Mr. Schwab?

Filthy Temples in India

Sacred cows often defile Indian temples, but worse yet is a body that's polluted by constipation. Don't permit it. Cleanse your system with Dr. King's New Life Pills and avoid untold misery. They give lively livers, active bowels, good digestion, fine appetite. Only 25c at Green's Pharmacy.

Death of an Old Soldier.

John Dunklebarger, a veteran of the Civil war and a resident of Pleasant Gap for the past fifty years, died at his home in that place Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock. He had been ill since Tuesday, having been stricken by a paralytic stroke while walking along the street.

He was 68 years of age and a member of the Lutheran church. He is survived by two sons and three daughters, namely, Grant, Harry, Minnie, Effie and Kate.

The funeral took place Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment in the Lutheran cemetery at Pleasant Gap.

For Over Sixty Years.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for over sixty years by millions of mothers for their children while teething with perfect success. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cure wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Sold by all druggists in all parts of the world. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup" and take no other kind.

—We extend huge chunks of sympathy to Brother George R. Meek, "The Beau Brummel" of our editorial fraternity, in his sad affliction. He has an ailment, which is causing him great suffering and inconvenience, but fortunately it is neither contagious or infectious. The physicians, after diagnosing his case, pronounce it "furnuncle". People generally, call in boils and some uncultured persons say biles. It is the same malady which tried Job's patience, many years ago, but he unlike Brother George, did not complain. We sincerely hope that he will soon regain his usual health and spirits, but before he can be entirely cured, he must get quit of some more of his dead matter, and then he will come out as bright and shining as a new copy of the "Democratic Watchman."

THE TRYING TIME

In a young girl's life is reached when Nature leads her uncertain steps across the line which divides girlhood from womanhood. Ignorance and neglect at this critical period are largely responsible for much of the after misery of womanhood. Not only does Nature often need help in the regular establishment of the womanly function, but there is almost always need of some safe, strengthening tonic, to overcome the languor, nervousness and weakness, commonly experienced at this time.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription establishes regularity. It is a strengthening tonic, soothing the nerves, encouraging the appetite and inducing restful sleep. It contains no alcohol neither opium, cocaine or other narcotic.

"I wish to tell you the benefit we have received from using your remedies," writes Mrs. Dan Hall, of Brodhead, Green Co., Wis. "Two years ago my daughter's health began to fail. Everything that could be thought of was done to help her but it was of no use. When she began to complain she was quite stout; weighed 170, the picture of good health, until about the age of fourteen, then in six months she was so run down her weight was but 120. She kept failing and I gave up, thinking there was no use, she must die. Friends all said, 'You will lose your daughter.' I said I fear I shall. I must say, doctor, that only for your 'Favorite Prescription' my daughter would have been in her grave to-day. When she had taken one-half bottle the natural function was established and we bought another one, making only two bottles in all, and she completely recovered. Since then she is as well as can be."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, in paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

The Chickens Always Come Home to Roost.

Bellefonte is a pretty good place after all, there are but few people who leave who are not glad to get back, and although it may be a little slow, it is just about the best place you can find, no one moves away if they can help it, and if they ever have half a chance, back they come. Mr. and Mrs. Ed. P. Irvin after having lived here for many years and making hosts of friends, thought they might improve matters by seeking pastures new, so Mr. Irvin sold out his large Hardware Store, and he and his wife moved to Greenborough, North Carolina, where Mr. Irvin engaged in the stationary business. Everything prospered, so he had nothing to complain of, on that score but they could not forget Bellefonte, and there many friends here. As time passed the more dissatisfied they became, so at last growing desperate, he sold out his business and he and his wife took the first train for Bellefonte beautiful, they made no stops, but hurried through, reaching Gods country on Tuesday. Ed, we welcome you back, and never be foolish enough to try and improve on Bellefonte you can't do it.

Virulent Cancer Cured

Startling proof of a wonderful advance in medicine is given by druggist G. W. Roberts, of Elizabeth, W. Va. An old man there had long suffered with what good doctors pronounced incurable cancer. They believed his case hopeless till he used Electric Bitters and applied Bucklen's Arnica Salve, which treatment completely cured him. When Electric Bitters are used to expel bilious, kidney and microbe poisons at the same time this salve exerts its matchless healing power, blood diseases, skin eruptions ulcers and sores vanish. Bitters 50c, Salve 25c at Green's Pharmacy.

—Archy Allison the up to-date plumber, has arranged, re-arranged and fixed up his store in McClain Block that it does not look like the old place, the windows are nice and clean so that you can really see through them. He has a cosy little office nicely arranged for comfort and convenience. His wares are displayed in an attractive manner and at night, the room is bright as day, the electric lights being arranged throughout the store in a novel manner. It is well worth a visit to go in and look around.

—Flag day was not generally observed in our town. Not that we lack patriotism but, most of us forgot about it, though Post Master Montgomery has the front of the Post Office decorated with the national colors. Don't let this occur again, and I can assure you that if the writer is still living and has charge of the NEWS next year, every one will receive timely notice of the day.

Cars Wrecked on Beech Creek.

At Morrisdale Mines hill on the Beech Creek railroad Thursday a car jumped the track and caused the wreck of seven other cars. The wreck car and crew from Jersey Shore yards cleared the tracks. None of the trainmen were injured and the passenger train was only delayed a few hours.

Saved From an Awful Fate.

"Everybody said I had consumption," writes Mrs. M. A. Shields, of Chambersburg, Pa., "I was so low after six months of severe sickness, caused by hay fever and asthma, that few thought I could get well, but I learned of the marvelous merit of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, used it and was completely cured." For desperate throat and lung diseases it is the safest cure in the world, and is infallible for coughs, colds and bronchial affections. Guaranteed bottles 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at Green's Pharmacy.

C. M. SCHWAB'S ADDRESS

Delivered to the Graduates at Pennsylvania State College

HE DEFINES WHAT TRUE SUCCESS IS

Says it Means an Appreciation of the Beautiful in Life as Well as Getting Money—Don't Place to Much Faith in Diplomas.

HE FAVORS COLLEGE EDUCATION

Charles M. Schwab, who delivered the Commencement address at State College Wednesday morning spoke in part as follows:

"Several years ago I was asked by the principal of the New York Manual Training School to make a graduation address to the 2000 boys who belonged to the school. They had acquired only the rudiments of an education and I had not the heart to say anything else but that a college education was unnecessary to their success. It was not to them.

"Here, however, I wish to declare my real views. I am in favor of college education.

"To become successful a college man must not find fault with the ways of self-trained men, but must work to put into practice the things he has learned in his college course. He must not make the mistake of thinking he is above the common class.

"Again the college man must start at the bottom. One reason why practical men are at the head of organizations is because the college man depends too much od his diploma. The college man who will not start at the bottom will be outstripped by those he finds fault with.

"Success nowadays means appreciation of art, music, painting, and means money getting also. The old standard of education has passed away. Modern success demands money getting in addition to these things. The truly successful man, however, will not think of the money, for the rich men of today spend very little on themselves. J. Pierpont Morgan, who combines love of art with masterly business ability, is an example of what modern education should produce. These two ideas of education are entirely consistent.

"Now I desire to give these young men some advise—it is the easiest thing in the world to give.

"The worst thing you can do is to start in life with influence. Nothing will do you so much injury. Never ask your friends to help you get a position, for if you accomplish anything they will receive all the credit.

"Be energetic. Made mistakes if you must, but keep working. People will respect you for it. Act, and act first.

"Be interested in your work. You can not make a man believe you are interested in your work if you are not, nor can you make him believe you like him if it is not true.

"Be assured that success is not won by chance. You never saw a man out of whose record you could not pick the incident that made him successful.

"Be original. Do not follow the beaten path. You will thereby attract attention and will win promotion.

"In conclusion, I wish to say that the business of the country must be continued under organizations. Trusts cannot be stopped. One thing that stands in the way of their success is men to manage them. Here is a chance for trained young men.

"No man will intrust his fortune to your hands, however, until you have demonstrated your ability. The day of preferment of family influence is past. Ability is now sought everywhere. Capitalists bemoan the lack of it.

"Do not be discouraged, but stick to your work, for you have better equipment as graduates of State College than most men. Be honest, and I repeat, don't find fault, work where you are placed; be interested in your duties, be thorough, be original. I wish you success and desire to be numbered, along with the faculty, among your friends."

—If you have never seen Mr. Charles M. Schwab, the great steel magnate, just take a good look at Frank Kirkland, the popular clerk at the Bush House, when he is all fixed up, with his Prince Albert coat, patent leather shoes and kid gloves. Observe him closely as he walks along the street, with his stately grace and bearing and you will see an exact counterpart of Mr. Schwab. We do not know whether his similarity stops here or not, but up to this date we have not heard of Mr. Kirkland throwing around pipe organs, chapels or $60,000 checks. If we hear of him doing so, we will inform the public of the fact.

Happy Time in Old Town

"We felt very happy," writes R. N. Bevill, Old Town, Va., "when Bucklen's Arnica Salve wholly cured our daughter of a bad case of scald head." It delights all who use it for cuts, corns burns, bruises, boils, ulcers, eruptions. Infallible for piles. Only 25c at Green's Pharmacy.

A Pretty June Wedding at Boalsburg.

The home of Mrs. Mary Woods at Boalsburg was the scene of a very pretty wedding event Wednesday evening at 5 o'clock when her daughter, Miss Helen Woods was given in marriage to Prof. James C. Bryson, of Watsontown, Pa.

There were about fifty guests in attendance, the ceremony being performed in the parlor of the Woods residence which was beautifully decorated for the occasion.

The words which united this worthy couple for life were pronounced by Rev. D. E. Hepler, of the Presbyterian church at Lemont, under a wedding bell of white roses. The bride and groom were attended by Dr. Samuel Woods, a brother of the bride, and Miss Janet Bryson, a sister of the groom, and by Dr. H. Russel Bryson, a brother of the groom, and Miss Rose Woods, a sister of the bride. Little Mary Glenn, a neice of the bride acted as flower girl.

The bride was attired in chiffon over tafleta and the bridesmaids wore white Paris muslin.

The wedding march from Mendelsohn was rendered by Miss Mary Woods, of Pine Grove Mills.

After the ceremony a bountiful repast was served which was highly enjoyed by all present. The bride received many beautiful presents which testifies to the high appreciation in which she is held by all who know her.

Prof. Bryson is principal of the Boalsburg High School but will spend the summer with his bride at his home in Watsontown. They are enjoying their honeymoon season at Philadelphia and Atlantic City.

Among the guests present from a distance were: Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Gauger, Milton; Mrs. Martha Bryson and daughter, Watsontown; Dr. H. Russell Bryson, of Lancaster; Dr. Samuel Woods, of Sharon, Pa.; Wm. W. Woods, of Pittsburg, Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Chrigon and daughter, of Lewisburg; Mrs. Dr. Glenn and daughter, of Rixford; Mr. and Mrs. John Stuart, of State College; Miss Belle Rankin, Bellefonte, Dr. and Mrs. G. H. Woods and family, of Pine Grove Mills; Miss Roxanna Brisbin, of Centre Hall.

Spring Fever.

Spring fever is another name for biliousness. It is more serious than most people think. A torpid liver and inactive bowels means a poisoned system. If neglected, serious illness may follow such symptons. DeWitt's Little Early Risers remove all danger by stimulating the liver, opening the bowels and cleansing the system of impurities. Safe pills. Never gripe. "I have taken DeWitt's Little Early Risers for torpid liver every spring for years," writes R. M. Everly, Moundsville, W. Va. "They do me more good than anything I have ever tried." C. M. Parrish.

—It is announced that the Pittsburg exposition will be thrown open to the public on Wednesday, September 3d., to continue until Saturday, October 18th. A number of new features will be added this year, among the novelties promised being a reproduction of the disaster at Martinique. Sousa's band will be present during the first two weeks of the exposition, to be followed by Fadette's Woman's orchestra, of Boston, composed of fifty women, and other good musical organizations. The grounds at the southern end of the exposition buildings it is intended to lay out in a park.

A Generous Act.

Daniel Webster Strayer, of York, a member of the class of 1902, Pennsylvania State College, and whose address on "The Pennsylvania Germans" at the Commencement exercises Wednesday morning made such an excellent impression, was the recipient Wednesday afternoon of the generosity of Charles M. Schwab Esq., in a manner which shows the noble impulse that inspire the heart of the steel magnate.

It seems that Strayer had been awarded by the popular vote of his class one of the post graduate scholarships valued at $400 so munificiently bestowed by Gilbert White, of New York City. Strayer however, who is a poor boy, had been offered a good position and under the circumstances felt compelled to refuse the scholarship and accept the former. During the afternoon while walking through the corridor of the main building he happened to meet Mr. Schwab and Dr. Atherton and was accosted as to his plans. He explained the circumstances under which he labored.

Mr. Schwab was greatly impressed by the young man's story and his splendid record at College and made him this offer. "If you will stay and complete this post-graduate course, I will pay you $1.000 until the course is completed." Young Strayer was overwhelmed by this kind offer, but it is needless to say he accepted it in the spirit that it was offered and promised by hard work to make himself worthy of the confidence imposed upon him by Mr. Schwab.

The course which Mr. Strayer has been taking at State College is that of chemistry.

—When Thomas Morris, whose bride of a few months believed him to be an honorable business man, was arrested at Parkersburg, W. Va., a few days ago on a charge of robbing the postoffice at Fleming, O., the betrayed woman first awakened to the fact that she was wedded to a professional burglar and safe-cracker. Morris was tried and convicted immediately and has been sentenced to two years in the penitentiary. His wife says she will remain at Parkersburg. She is educated and refined and says that she comes from a prominent Ohio family, but refuses to tell what her maiden name was. She also stated that she would never let her parents know of her present condition. She met Morris accidentally, she said, and had fallen in love with him.

IMPORTANT.

We mean to place The BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN in every home of every Republican in Centre County if it is possible to do so. Do not think you will obligate yourself for any amount in the way of subscription by taking the paper from the post office. Take it home with you. Give it a trial. It will cost you nothing to do this. We do not ask, nor will we expect pay for sample copies of the Republican for such this is. We are going to give you the latest news—the best news News that will interest and instruct you. News that will keep you informed on all matters of general information in County, State and National affairs. When in Bellefonte make us a call. We will be glad to see you, and will give you a hearty welcome. In the meantime read the papers we send you and bear this in mind.

The "Republican" can be had for $1.00 per annum if paid in advance, and $1.50 will be the price if not paid in advance.

ANOTHER DUTCH GOVERNOR.

Without doubt, Judge Samuel W. Pennypacker will accept the nomination for Governor and will be accordingly elected—making the ninth incumbent of the office among the direct descendants of the German or Pennsylvania Dutch Stock. Speaking of this, "Penn," of the Philadelphia Bulletin, gives this running comment upon the Dutch Governors whose names are household words even to those who do not care much for the details of history. They have contributed from their stock not fewer than one third of our Governors since the office was made elective in the hands of the people. The combined terms of service of these men covered a period of forty two years. From the time when the country Democrats in this State first captured the office with Simon Snyder at their head, whom they erected for three terms, Governors from among the Pennsylvania Germans continued time and again to be elected including John Andrew Shulze, George Wolf, Joseph Ritner, Francis R. Shunk, William Bigler and John F. Hartranft. Nearly all these men were conspicuous for their sturdy honesty and strong sense, and Wolf, if not also Ritner, almost reached greatness in the untiring vigor with which each became the successful champion of the free school system in public education, despite the indifference or resistance of most of his fellow Germans to that beneficent reform. It is not uncommon to describe the stock as mentally heavy and politically conservative. Nevertheless the historical fact must be recognized that the Governors who sprung from it were as a whole excellent rulers. It would hardly be possible to take any other eight occupants of the office and credit them fairly with a higher average of public virtue, steadiness and persistency of purpose, simplicity and successful results in administration than marked the career and rule of the Pennsylvania German Governors at Harrisburg. Pennypacker, however, will be the first of them not bred wholly in the country or to country life, and unlike most of them he is a man of generous culture and varied learning. In this respect it will not be easy to name any Governor of the State who has been his equal and certainly none has been his superior."

The German has not the genius for organized politics, such as the Irishman constantly shows. He is a little slower, but he is sure and safe. He is not so fully given to the commercialism of politics as those of other bloods, and so when he gets place there is a kind of dogmatic, sullen stubbornness for the right which he will maintain to the death. It was the sturdy resistance of the Netherlands and the Dutch Republics that made modern Europe possible and freedom as we enjoy it a fact. When the Dutch William came to England there was an end of Stuart profligacy. The Dutch blood in Roosevelt stands him in good stead. Martin Van Buren was a bigger man than generally supposed, and to his lasting credit his Dutch blood combated the financial fanaticism arising from the panic of 1837. Dutch blood is a pretty good thing in politics.

Wire Fences.

A correspondent asks: Is it against the law to place a barbed wire fence along a public highway without a board or pole

An act of Assembly approved May 2, 1899, entitled "An act legalizing and making it lawful to build fences constructed in whole or in part of wire along the public highways and as division fences, reads as follows:

Section 1. Be it enacted, etc., that it shall and is hereby declared to be lawful for any land owner within the commonwealth to construct, build and maintain along any of the highways of this commonwealth fences made in whole or in part of wire without barbs, subject at all times to such restrictions and prohibitions as may be imposed by the municipal authorities relative thereto.

Section 2. A fence in whole or in part of wire, without barbs, is hereby declared to be a legal and lawful fence, within the meaning and provisions of any act of the Legislature of this state relative to building, constructing and maintaining of line fences, proveded that such wire fence shall be of height required by such act or acts.

Another act, approved May 26, 1897, provides that as a precaution against snow blockades along public highways road supervisors are allowed to assist in the erection of wire fences without barbs along the public highways at such points, to the extent of paying the first cost of the wire only.

DEATH OF J. HARRISON HOLT.

A Prominent Centre County Citizen Dies at His Home Near Moshannon.

Hon. John Harbison Holt, a well known democratic politician and a prominent business man of the county, passed away Monday evening between ten and eleven o'clock at his home near Moshannon. He had been in ill health since last autumn and a few weeks ago sustained a severe fall which is believed to have hastened his death, which was due to a complication of diseases.

Deceased was born at Snow Shoe, September 28, 1828. His education was secured in the common schools. He first became a civil engineer and later engaged in lumbering, farming and mining. He was a member of the lumber firm of J. H. Holt & Co., who during the Johnstown flood lost $20 000 by the high water. His firm however was generally highly successful and he amassed considerable money. In politics he was an ardent democrat and his party honored him by electing him nine years as an election clerk, thirty-three years as a School director, one year as a justice of the peace and four years in the Pennsylvania State legislature. For twenty-five years he was an elder in the Presbyterian church. At the time of his death he was president of the Salt Lick Gas Company and was also engaged in farming.

April 5, 1852 he was married to Letitia F. Askey, of Snow Shoe, who preceded him to the grave eight years ago. Jan 9, 1896 he was again married to Mary H. Denlinger, of White Hall, Cumberland County, who survives him.

The following children by his first wife also survive him: Oscar, of Winburne, Clearfield county; Edgar, of Northumberland; Frank, of Beech Creek; Samuel A., and Wilber H., of Snow Shoe; Nannie J., wife of J. Kennedy Johnston, of Bellefonte, and Harry C., of Duquesne, Pa.

Mr. Holt was a member of Constans Commandery, Knights Templar, of Bellefonte, and this order will have charge of the funeral which takes place from the home of the deceased near Moshannon this afternoon at 3 o'clock. Interment will be made in Askey cemetery at Moshannon.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.

The House of Henry Yingling in Taylor Twp., Centre County, Badly Damaged.

Shortly after 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon lightning struck the roof of the residence of Henry Yingling and family, near the Copenhaver place on the Philipsburg pike, and shattered the building considerably, but fortunately it did not take fire.

Mr. and Mrs. Yingling and three of their grandchildren were in the house at the time. They were all shocked more or less, but Mr. Yingling received the most severe shaking up. The current evidently ran along the floor under his feet for the tongue of a board was split. He says his feet received a heavy charge from the current and for a short time gave him the most severe pain he ever suffered, but he finally recovered from the shock. The children particularly were greatly frightened.

Two of the rafters of the building were split into kindling wood, the plastering was torn from the walls in several places, especially in one of the rooms which suffered more than did any other part of the building. The current passed to the cellar but no damage was done in the basement. It will cost about $25 to repair the house.

It is fortunate for Mr. Yingling and his family that it did not take fire and burn down, for it could not have been saved, isolated as it is from other homes and people. The family are also extremely fortunate not to have received the full force of the current, for it could not have done otherwise than proven fatal had any of them been directly in its course.

—In another column will be found the card of Dr. M. J. Locke, announcing himself as a candidate for Congress from this district. We were not aware until Monday that the congressional bee was buzzing in his bonnet. The Doctor is one of our leading physicians, is a man of fine education, a thorough Republican, and should he receive the nomination and election we could safely trust our interests at Washington in his hands. He is very popular wherever known and, no doubt, will make an energetic canvass to secure the conferees.

AN UNTIMELY DEATH.

Mrs. Joseph Kelleher, a Bride of a Few Months, Called to Her Eternal Home.

It is with extreme regret that this paper chronicles the death of Mrs. Joseph Kelleher who passed away at her home on North Thomas street Monday evening at 5 o'clock. Her illness extended over a period of only three days, having been taken sick Friday night. All day Saturday her condition continued serious and on Sunday morning at 5 o'clock an operation was performed by Doctors Hayes, Klump and Sebring. Monday morning her condition appeared more favorable but in the afternoon a change for the worse set in and she finally expired at the above mentioned time. Death was due to internal hemorrhages.

Particularly sad are the circumstances surrounding this death, for just four months ago, or to be more exact, on the 11th of February, Joseph Kelleher led Elizabeth Veronica Miller to the altar in St. Agnes Catholic church at Lock Haven and by the holy rites of the church they were made man and wife.

Mr. Kelleher who is conductor on the yard engine crew at this place, later rented the house formerly occupied by C. W. Tripple on North Thomas street and just three months ago with his bride he settled down there prepared to enjoy the long and happy wedded life which seemed to stretch out before them. But the angel of death has entered this happy home and taken hence the spirit of this loving helpmate to "that bourne from whence no traveler ere returns."

Mrs. Kelleher during her short married life in Bellefonte has made friends of everyone who knew her, all admiring her for her many excellent qualities. Her husband and relatives have the deepest sympathy of this whole community in this their hour of sad affliction.

The deceased was born in Lock Haven and was 26 years old on the 25th of last December. She was the daughter of John and Annie Miller. Her father died about eighteen years ago. She is survived by her mother and two sisters, namely, Mrs. E. A. Ryan and Miss Emma Miller, all of Lock Haven.

The remains were taken to Lock Haven Wednesday morning and the funeral took place this morning at 10 o'clock from St. Agnes Catholic church of which deceased was a consistent member.

How the Borough Father's do our Work.

Not having much on hand Monday evening we thought to be entertained for an hour or two, we would look in upon our borough fathers to see what they were doing at their meeting. We found them in session at their room at the public building, every member being present, with the exception of Mr. Mallory of the South Ward, and must confess that they are a fine looking body of men, and appear to be caring for the best interests of our citizens. Col. W. Fred Reynolds presides over their deliberations with great dignity, and one thing that struck us favorably was that there was no waste of time, and everything being done according to the latest parliamentary rules. There was nothing out of the ordinary routine brought up for their consideration, except that Burgess Blanchard, who was present, asked that the borough ordinances be so amended that he could execute them, as they are now, they are full of defects. The only thing that occurred which looked as though it might destroy the harmony of the meeting was a discussion between Dr. Kirk and William Derstine. They got into an argument as to whether the outside diameter of a fifteen inch terra cotta pipe wasn't smaller than the inside diameter, and Dr. Kirk insisting that a small sewer should carry off as much water as a large one. President Reynolds straightened the matter out for them, or they would have been wrangling over the question yet. George R. Meek was there and requested, from the council, the privilege of entering the borough sewer at McCulley's livery stable.

What he wanted in the sewer we don't know, but the thought just occurred to the writer, that perhaps he was looking for material to be used in his paper during the campaign, next fall. In another column will be found a report of the proceedings of the council.

—On Saturday there was a reunion of the family of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Marshall, at their home in Benner Township, at which were gathered together their children and their children's children, to the number of about forty. Their son James, residing at Niagara Falls, being present with his family. Mr. Charles F. Cook, of the banking house of Jackson, Hastings & Co., with his wife and children were also present. Mr. and Mrs. Marshall are well known throughout our county, and have the respect and esteem of every one, and it is our wish that they may live many years to enjoy such occasions, as the one which took place last Saturday.

For Our Merchants and their Wives.

In making a tour of inspection, through the business portion of our town, we observe that none of the stores were overcrowded, not one of them was doing the business near up to their capacity, and it occurred to us that probably one reason that more people did not do their purchasing in Bellefonte was that proper inducements are not offered, by the merchants, to draw the trade this way. Recently the Bellefonte Central Railroad, has been running a train every Saturday, morning and evening, from Scotia to accommodate persons living in that locality, who wish to come to Bellefonte to buy their supplies. As from the large number of stores there is greater variety to select from, and people from all the smaller towns, in the county, would prefer doing their buying here for the same reasons, and they would come, if only some little effort was made in the direction of making their railroad travel cost less. Now would it not be a good business proposition, in order to get the large trade from the ore mines, in that vicinity, to allow a certain percentage to persons coming and making purchases, that would reduce a round trip fare. This, we believe, could be arranged by issuing coupons which would be received as cash by the railroad company, in the purchase of tickets, or some other plan that might be more practical. This we offer only as a suggestion, and make it simply because of our interest in the prosperity of Bellefonte, and we propose using our columns, at all times, in the interest of our businessmen, which in a small way includes ourselves.

Judge Love's Decree in the Reeder & Quigley Injunction Case.

Tuesday evening, Judge Love handed down a decree in the Equity suit between Col. Wilbur F. Reeder and Henry C. Quigley, Esq., formerly constituting the legal firm of Reeder & Quigley, by which he dissolves the injunction and appoints Harry Keller Esq., as receiver of the firm assets,

Formal exceptions have been filed by Col. Reeder's attorneys but, we understand both parties to the litigation have signified their satisfaction as to the result.

Hecla Park Band Concerts.

Commencing Friday, June 20th, the afternoon and evening band concerts will be resumed at Hecla Park. These concerts proved very attractive to our people last season and doubtless will be equally well patronized during the present summer. Trains leave Bellefonte for the Park at 2.40 and 6:40 p. m., and excursion tickets will be sold at the usual rates; viz, 25c for adults and 15c for children.

Miss Bradley's Concert.

Miss Mary Bradley and the pupils of her class assisted by Miss Louise Calloway, Mr. Sam. Hart and Mr. Edward Fleming will give a Musicale in the Undine House this Thursday evening June 19th, beginning at 8 o'clock. Admission will be by invitation.

—Edgar Furst, eldest son of Joseph B. Furst, Esq., of Flemington, and nephew of Hon. A. O. —You hear about entertaining angels unawares, but Mr. and Mrs. John Meyers of West High Street, entertained a chappie Tuesday night all "un-beknownst" to themselves, for when they got up Wednesday morning and went into the sitting room they discovered that someone during the night, had opened the back window, and went in and slept on their lounge all night. He made himself as comfortable as possible, but forgot to remove his muddy shoes, which made a little work for Mrs. Meyers. He did not steal or disturb anything, but arose early and departed, leaving his neck tie and collar behind, which he can procure by coming to the front door and asking for them. We cannot blame our friend, Treasurer Speer, as it was a clean collar and neck tie of the latest style that were forgotten.

—The first re-union of the survivors of Co. I, Fifth Penn'a Reserves will be held at Huntingdon Furnace on the coming Saturday, the 21st inst. This company was organized at Huntingdon Furnace and went to the service from there in May, 1861, since which time many of the old members have not been back to the scene of their enlistment. The committee are assured of a general attendance of the surviving members, and invite all veterans of the civil war to join in this celebration. Several addresses will be given, a camp fire will be held, and a general good time is promised.

—The Committee appointed to arrange places and time for holding local farmers institutes in Centre County met in the Arbitration room Tuesday. The committee consisted of Hon. John A. Woodward, Geo. Dale, Owen Underwood and John M. Shugert. The committee have arranged to hold two institutes: One at Rock Springs and one at Spring Mills. The time to be fixed later but will be about the last week of December or first week of January.

—Eighty-seven years; pretty old, isn't it? That is the number of milestones in life's journey that have been passed by our greatly respected friend, Perry C. Steele, of Spring township. He was a visitor in town Tuesday, looking as bright and chipper as a boy of fifteen. May he live to pass the century mark.

STOCKTON'S KIND HEART.

The Author's Profound Respect For the Feelings of Others.

In the old days when Frank R. Stockton was my associate in editing Hearth and Home he invented or created a Marcus Aurelius of his own in the person of an imaginary office boy. Every week he would fill a column or two with a grotesque account of the doings and sayings of his fictitious Marcus Aurelius. At last the worm turned. Our actual office boy, a youth of unusual seriousness, requested him to stop the Marcus Aurelius humor.

"So you have taken it seriously?" asked Mr. Stockton.

"Well, you see, all my friends laugh at me about it, and it hurts," answered the office boy.

"I am sorry," said Mr. Stockton. "You are a good, honest and faithful office boy. I had no thought of hurting your feelings, and I shall write no more about Marcus Aurelius."

Here was an indication of the rare character of the man. His respect for the feelings of others was profound. His tenderness toward them was a most lovable characteristic of the man. It ran through all his conduct. He never willingly or knowingly hurt the feelings of any human being, for the reason that his soul was filled with an abounding charity and love for all his fellow men.—George Cary Eggleston in Collier's Weekly.

The Effects of Artillery.

It has long been a commonplace that the effects of artillery are mainly "moral," but for all that the introduction of new explosives, lyddite especially, and of quicker firing guns had insensibly revived the belief in the great material value of artillery. It would be gratuitous to say that artillery has had a great downfall in general estimation—among those who have always taken a sane view of its uses we do not think it has—but we may fairly say that relatively to artillery the rifle has gained in reputation. We know now that lyddite, although it may make short work of a mahdi's tomb, is of little use against earthworks, especially when it falls on very soft ground, and that the stories of men whose senses left them and whose teeth shook in their heads because they happened to be within a quarter of a mile of an explosion of lyddite were mere moonshine.—Spectator.

Tracing Responsibility.

A woman bought a cloth skirt ready made of a reputable firm. After wearing it for several days she discovered damaged spots in the front breadth. She took it back to the shop where she had bought it and was told that the error would be cared for. "It is not our fault, however," said the foreman, "and we will have to send it to the factory from which we bought it. It is up to them to make it good."

"And upon whom will they fail back?"

"On the manufacturer from whom they bought the cloth."

"And he?"

"Well, I suppose there would be no one but the sheep for him to blame, so he will have to bear the loss."—New York Press.

Also Important.

The Rev. Peter Cartwright, the famous pioneer Methodist circuit rider, while traveling to an appointment one day saw two young men of his acquaintance sitting idly on the bank of a small stream fishing. It was a fine spring day, and the scent of freshly plowed fields was in the air.

"Boys," he said, "I am sorry to see you breaking the fourth commandment."

"Why, Uncle Peter," they said, with a laugh at his expense, "this isn't Sunday!"

"I know it," he retorted, "but you are breaking the fourth commandment. You forget that one part of it says, 'Six days shalt thou labor.'"

A Feature of His Business.

"I thought she was a woman of unbreakable will," said the man with the bobtailed coat.

"And so she was," said the man with the incandescent whiskers.

"Yet you tell me that she's completely subservient to her husband," went on the first man.

"Well, you see, she married a lawyer, and he broke the will."—Baltimore American.

Royal Repartee.

It is related that once, when the Earl of Lauderdale was at dinner with King Charles, he remarked to the king "There is a good saying that fools make feasts and wise men eat the."

"There is another as good," rolled the Earl of Shaftesbury; "wits make jests and fools repeat them." And the king advised Lauderdale to make sure of his man in future.

Queen Victoria's Way.

The queen's interest in and oversight of public affairs did not cease with the prince's death, although in the first years of overwhelming sorrow it must have been difficult to carry out her conception of duty. All important resolutions were taken by her; the personal notes in The Court Circular were written by her own hand and were seen by no one else. When Sir Henry Ponsonby became the queen's private secretary, she said to him: "Remember this, no advice! I am older than you are and have had more experience." In after years historians will have much to say upon the queen's personal share in the government of her dominions. All her papers have been most carefully preserved and arranged and some day, perhaps, will be accessible to the inquirer. On the other hand there is not a single paper belonging to George III. which is known to be in existence.—Professor Oscar Browning in Century.

A Remedy For Teething Troubles.

For teething, a Surrey "mother of twelve" has an excellent recipe which in her experience has never failed. At the first symptoms the child must be taken out early in the morning and placed upon the back of a donkey to be borrowed for the occasion. Care is required here, for the little patient must sit exactly upon the cross on the donkey's back and have his face to the tail. The mother will then lead the animal slowly forward while she recites the Lord's prayer, at the close of which she should take the baby in her arms, kiss him and say, "God bless him," and his teething troubles will be over.

Oh, why did not our mother know all this? What we might have been spared!—London Tit-Bits.

The Real Inventor of Telegraphy.

Weber was the first who established a permanent workable telegraph line and thereby demonstrated the practical value of the electric telegraph. Weber's house was connected with the astronomical and magnetic observatories by a line over two miles in length. The signals were made by the deviations of the needle of a galvanometer to the right and left and were interpreted according to a conventional alphabet. The use of interrupted or reversed currents did not permit the transmission of more than one or two words a minute, but the speed was increased to seven or eight words by the use of inducted currents.

Too Strenuous For Him.

Mr. Petronius de Hamme, the eminent tragedian, was compelled by the exigencies of the play to carry the heroine up a rocky defile night after night.

Mr. de Hamme was not so sturdy as he used to be, and when the management cast Miss Vera Hevveigh, who tipped the scales at 310 pounds, for the heroine his spirit rose within him.

That night he made one mighty effort to carry her up the rocky defile and then advanced to the footlights. In an apologetic tone he inquired, "Is there a piano mover in the audience?"—W. D. Nesbit in Woman's Home Companion.

Died In Place of a Younger Man.

A charge was made at a wall lined with French infantry. Sergeant McQuade of an English regiment saw two Frenchmen level their muskets on rests against a gap in a bank, awaiting the appearance of an enemy.

Sir George Brown, then a lad of sixteen, started to ascend at the fatal point. "You are too young, sir, to be killed," said McQuade, pulling him back and stepping into his place. He fell dead, pierced with both bullets.

"You don't understand me," said the judge. "I mean what time was it by the clock?"

"Dey warn't no clock dar, suh," said the witness.

"Well, by the sun, then?"

"Now," exclaimed the witness triumphantly, "sence you hez come right down ter business I'll tell you plain. NOT A LOVE KNOT.

Embarrassing Experience of a Woman In a Street Car.

A handsomely dressed lady riding recently in a crowded Amsterdam avenue car was fortunate enough to have a seat, but when nearing her destination she noticed that the lacing of her shoe was unfastened. It was the work of a moment, but a very trying moment, to stoop down and knot it securely. When this was accomplished, her hat veil readjusted and her gloves once more carefully put on, it was time to signal the conductor. This she did and after two vain attempts to rise looked around indignantly to find the cause of her retarded movements. She came face to face with a very irate gentleman who had been sitting next to her.

"Madam, madam, where are you trying to take me?" he demanded.

"I—you!" she stammered.

"Yes. Look there!" He pointed to the floor, and in an instant she had grasped the situation. By mistake in groping she had found the lacing of his shoe, which she had taken for the other end of her own, and had fastened them so carefully together that it took the gentleman quite five minutes to effect a release, under the amused glances of the other occupants of the car, which had traveled twice that number of blocks before the lady was ready to give another signal.—New York Times.

A Chinese Proverb.

An attache of one of the legations in Peking at the time when two continents were in a high state of tension was a guest at the Army and Navy club in New York a few evenings since, says Leslie's Weekly. "I had occasion," he said, "to meet Li Hung Chang, who, despite the heavy suspense overhanging his country, seemed to be, to us, painfully cheerful. One of the party present, a man in authority, referred to Li's merriment.

"The interpreter mentioned it to his master, who requested him to make the most beautiful reply I ever heard. 'Tell him,' said the interpreter, quoting his master, 'that the Chinese have a proverb which I commend to all in all conditions: You cannot prevent birds of sorrow flying over your head, but you can keep them from stopping and building nests in your hair.'

"I immediately wrote it down, so I know the quotation is correct."

American "Prudishness."

In the face of foreign criticism and in the face of one's own dismay at existing conditions with regard to divorce, we still sympathize with the retort administered to an alien critic of our people who had declared in private conversation that America seemed to be afflicted with the disease of prudishness. The answer was somewhat in these words (the incident occurred several years ago): "Yes, probably it is true that Americans are prudish; but, considering the revelations that have recently taken place concerning certain circles in London and considering the condition of a good part of the Parisian stage and of French literature, I, for one, am willing that we should pay that price for the knowledge that, on the whole, Americans are the decentest people in regard to the relations of the sexes on the face of the globe."—Century.

WEAK ON SPELLING.

The Combination Word That Opened Commodore Vanderbilt's Safe.

According to all the traditions, Commodore Vanderbilt, who laid the foundation of the family wealth that has become proverbial, was a man without education, knowing little of the "three R's" and lamentably weak on spelling. He kept to himself the word on which the combination of the office safe was based until sudden sickness prevented his appearing one morning and it became necessary to transfer the secret in order that the day's work might be done without let or hindrance.

The bookkeeper sent to the commodore's house for the word key and received reply that "dog" was the necessary word. But every effort to release the bolts on the "d-o-g" combination failed, and it was necessary to send again to the Vanderbilt home in fear that the old financier might have made a thoughtless mistake. But the messenger was speedily convinced that the mistake was somebody else's when the irascible commodore roared at him: "'Dog,' you dog! 'Dog!' Confound you all for a lot of zanies! Go back—go back to the office and open that safe on 'dog'—'d-o-r-g-e,' 'dog!'"—Philadelphia Times.

"We never realize the full value of a thing until we lose it," remarked the moralist.

"That's right," remarked the practical man, "especially if the thing lost was insured."—Philadelphia Press.

ODD FRUITS OF JAVA.

The Most Common One, the Durian, Is the Strangest of All.

"The fruits of Java," writes a correspondent of the Pittsburg Dispatch, "form an interesting study in themselves, there are so many and of such strange varieties. The most common is the strangest of all. It is called the durian and grows like a huge excrescence from the trunk of a tree somewhat similar to our pear tree. The fruit, which is pear shaped, grows to a great size, often several feet in length, and has a yellow skin, rough like a pineapple. The most remarkable thing about the durian, however, is its odor. To say you can smell it a block off is putting it mildly. A combination of aged eggs and the ripest cheese could not be compared with it. When you break open the hull to find what can be the cause of all this disturbance to your olfactory nerves and find a great cluster of snow white kernels which taste like some strangely delicious custard, your amazement is greater still.

Another strange fruit is the serpent fruit, so called from the fact that its skin is the exact counterpart of that of a snake. There are the pomoloe, like a great orange; the potato fruit, which resembles that vegetable in all but its fine flavor; the custard apple, with a yellow custardlike pulp, having a rather decided taste of turpentine; the poppæ, like a melon growing on a tree; the great jack fruit, of rather a coarse flavor; a small yellow fruit, with an unpronounceable native name, incased in a great bur like a chestnut, and a hundred other varieties, with none but native and scientific names, some good, some indifferent and some entirely unpalatable to any but a native. The orange is rather a scarce fruit, but the pineapple and banana are abundant and delicious, especially the former. There are more than twenty different varieties of bananas native to Java."

YARNS FROM ERIN.

The Absurdities That Are Born of Irish Simplicity.

Here are a few samples of the absurdities arising out of the extreme simplicity of some Irish folk:

A young man came to confess to an Irish priest in London whose experiences of the humors of his fellow countrymen would fill a book. "Well, my man," said the priest, "and how do you earn your living?" "I'm an acrowbat, your riverence." The priest was nonplused. "I'll show ye what I mean in a brace of shakes," said the penitent, and in a moment was turning himself inside out in the most approved acrobatic fashion in and out of the pews.

An old woman who had followed him to confession looked on horrified. "When it comes to my turn, father," she gasped, "for the love of God don't put a penance on me like that. It 'ud be the death of me!"

I think it was the same good father who, observing the regular attendance at a Lent mission had done nothing to reform one of his parishioners, told him so and asked him the reason of it. "Ah, father," he replied, "I can manage the faith right enough, but the morals bate me."

On another occasion this priest was called upon to marry a man of whom he knew nothing to a girl of his congregation. On investigation he found the would be bridegroom's knowledge of the Catholic faith very limited.

"Have you ever been baptized?" he asked. "Well, father, I can't trust me memory to that." "Are your parents living?" "The mother is." "Let's have her address." This was given and a telegram dispatched to the old lady on the spot, reply paid. The answer came in due course, "Vaccinated, but not baptized."—A Kerry Man in London Spectator.

Licking Thumbs to Bind a Contract.

Goths and Iberians completed an agreement by licking and joining their thumbs, as Scotsmen once did and Moors still do, and rustic lovers once betrothed themselves by licking their respective master fingers and then pressing them together as they vowed to remain faithful to each other forever and a day. Even now an Ulster man signifies his assent to a proposition with, "We may lick thooms upo' that!" if he does not suit the action to the word like the lieutenant who in 1642, on being challenged to mortal combat by his own sergeant, accepted the duel by licking his thumb, saying, "There is my parole for it."—Chambers' Journal.

A Story of Browning.

Browning himself couldn't always explain his meaning at first reading. Dr. Furnivall, founder of the English Browning society, frequently consulted the poet as to the meaning of some passage in his works. "Bless me," Browning would say, "I really have forgotten what I did mean, and as I haven't got a copy of my works by me I really can't enlighten you. Just lend me the book, there's a good fellow. I'll look it over at my leisure and try to find out what was in my mind at the time."

Wrists and Temperature.

Actors and actresses say that if one of their number faints cold water is poured on the wrists. The result is always immediate recovery. Athletes engaged in feats of endurance understand the importance of keeping the wrists cool in summer and warm in winter, but the general public goes on wearing tight gloves and heavy cuffs during the dog days and then wonders why it is hot. Taking off one's gloves, especially in church, makes quite a surprising difference in one's temperature. Tight sleeves, above all things, make the wearer hot in oppressive weather.

CERTAIN RESULTS

'Nothing can be surer' is the testimony of Bellefonte citizens.

The stage of uncertainty is over in Bellefonte.

There can now be had plenty of positive proof in the testimony of a citizen.

Evidence of this nature should convince the most skeptical doubter in this vicinity.

Reads the following.

Mr. Curtis Johnson of 583 Bishop Street, freight trunkman, says: "I had backache and lameness across my loins for a year or more. At times the lameness was so acute I could lift nothing and if I stooped it was impossible for me to straighten. When driving there was a steady aching over my kidneys the whole time and I had a dull, tired feeling which took away all my ambition. I procured Doan's Kidney Pills from F. Potts Green's drug store and they soon cured me from the whole combination of troubles and they did it quickly and thoroughly." My wife was also suffering from a tired grinding backache and she used Doan's Kidney Pills and they invigorated her generally. She now speaks of them as highly as I do. We never came across any remedy which surpassed Doan's Kidney Pills."

In Editorial Ranks.

Mr. John C. Miller, of Bellefonte, who has ever had a hankering after newspaper work, has assumed charge of the "Bellefonte Republican," vice Wilbur Harris, resigned. John was always a good Republican until he became inoculated with the "Union" virus, a passing madness which his occupation of the editor's chair in the "Republican" office indicates recovery from. Mr. Miller wields a pungent pen and he'll make it lively for his compeers at the county seat.—Philipsburg Ledger.

Irish In the Bahamas.

The Irish language is spoken in the Bahamas among the mixed descendants of the Hibernian patriots banished long ago by Cromwell to the West Indies. One can occasionally hear negro sailors in the east end of London who cannot speak a word of English talking Irish to the old Irish apple women who gather around the docks.—London Chronicle.

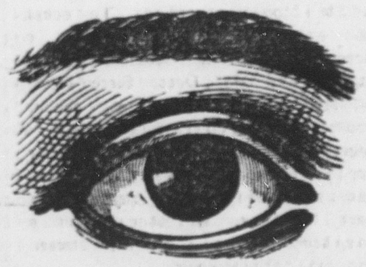
PROF. J. ANGEL

AN EXPERT



Eye Specialist!

of Williamsport, will make his monthly visit here

ONE DAY ONLY,

Thurs. June 26,

from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m., with headquarters at

THE GARMAN HOUSE

Bellefonte, Pa.

I can examine your eyes at your home, by appointment, without extra charge.

If you need me at your home drop me a line in care of Garman House.

Hundreds are going blind daily, from the need of the proper prescribed glasses and from delaying attention to the eyes from time to time. Nothing will destroy your eyesight quicker than cheap glasses or glasses not properly fitted to your eyes.

Prof. Angel, in the short time he has been visiting this section, has met with marked success. Scores of leading citizens of this community have found relief from his treatment. It is not necessary to travel to Eastern cities for treatment when you can consult an eminent oculist at home.

Holter's Store, HOWARD,

Friday, June 27th.

Additional Locals.

—Charles Glenn, of Bellefonte, has been granted a pension of $12.00 per month by the government.

—The Methodist congregation will hold their annual picnic at Hecla Park on June 20th. Special trains will be run and the Coleville band will furnish the music.

—Dr. Harry Wilson Tate was a passenger on the one o'clock train, Saturday, bound for Philadelphia, to be present at, and take a prominent part in, the nuptial ceremonies of the Tate—Harmer wedding, which took place Wednesday evening.

—To whom it may concern: (we don't know who.) Take notice that in front of the Central Supply Co.'s store there is a hole in the board walk sufficiently large, to allow a good sized foot and leg, to go through, and unless repaired pretty soon, there may possibly be an action for damages.

—While working on a scaffold in one of rooms in the Brockerhoff House on Thursday afternoon, Rash Williams, the painter, stepped on a lose board which broke and let him fall a distance of fifteen feet to the floor, where he landed in a bucket of glue Besides feeling very "sticky" he is also suffering from a dislocated wrist, —Have you seen the garden of roses at the residence of Mr. J. Howard Lingle, corner of Linn and Spring streets? If not, it would pay you to walk out and see roses in the greatest profusion of all sizes. hues and colors. Mrs. Lingle bestows a great deal of attention on her grounds and has added greatly to the beauty of that portion of Linn street.

—We are in receipt of some temperance tracts from Miss Clara Valentine, asking their publication. They will be preserved and will be given space in our paper as soon as the crowded condition of our columns will permit, and we want to assure the sender that we are in full sympathy with her, in the effort to make mankind better in every way.

—The funeral of Marie Steele, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David V. Steele, who was so dreadfully burned on Tuesday, that death ensued, took place from her parents home, on Saturday morning at ten o'clock. The services were conducted by Rev. W. H. Brown of the Evangelical Church. Interment in Union Cemetery.

—Wm. Doak of Bellefonte who is deaf and partly blind has secured the agency for a fine line of toilet, and laundry soap perfumes, extracts and etc. He also carries a full line of kitchen articles, and any one in need of soap will do well to give Mr. Doak their orders. The soap tried once you will be sure to order again; so when he calls, give him your order as he is trying to make a living in the condition he is in.

—Putting food into a diseased stomach is like putting money into a pocket with holes. The money is lost. All its value goes for nothing. When the stomach is diseased with the allied organs of digestion and nutrition. the food which is put into it is largely lost. The nutriment is not extracted from it. The body is weak and the blood impoverished. The pocket can be mended. The stomach can be cured. That sterling medicine for the stomach and blood, Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, acts with peculiar promptness and power on the organs of digestion and nutrition. It is a positive cure for almost all disorders of these organs, and cures also such diseases of the heart, blood, liver and other organs, as have their cause in a weak or diseased condition of the stomach.

—We cannot conceive what Tommy Shaughnessy and the Street Committee meant, when they built the sewer across the street from the school house commons to the Armory, for they have gotten the hind end before, that is, the outlet is about twice as large as the inlet, and as a result, every time there is a hard rain, the water cannot enter it, and flows all over that part of town, washing the street, and almost making it impassable for pedestrians. Last Wednesday's rain washed a deep gully through William P. Humes' lot, filling the cellars of the houses on the lower part of Lamb street. This should not be, and with very little labor it could be remedied, and unless it is attended to, a higher power than the town council, will be invoked to abate the nuisance.

—Thursday evening as our jovial friend, Wm. A. Lyon, was taking his usual drive through town he tried to pass a large two-wheeled cart, which is part of an outfit belonging to some patent medicine vendors who are giving concerts every evening in the Diamond, his horse became very much frightened and for a while it looked as though there might be a catastrophe of some kind occur. The horse was determined not to go by; William, however, was just as determined that he should; thus matters stood for quite a while. William urged the horse to go forward, but the horse insisted upon going backward. After having afforded entertainment for the great crowd that had collected a compromise was effected, which was, that the horse would allow itself to be led, while William should hold the lines. We could not exactly catch on to what Mr. Lyon was saying as he passed where the writer was standing, and it is just as well that he did not, for we opine it would not have been proper reading matter for our columns.

—Mr. A. V. Smith has repainted his residence on North Thomas street. It presents a very pretty appearance.

—H. C. Quigley, Esq., secretary of the School Board, wishes us to announce that teachers for the coming year will be elected on July 7th.

—The framework of the recently burned Evangelical church at Clintondale is being raised. The festival held recently for the benefit of the church brought in over ninety dollars.

—E. M. Greist, who will manage the Central Supply Company store at this place, has leased the house recently vacated by Rev. Scott on East Curtin street and has moved his family into it.

—Glen Meyer, of Lamar, and Miss Jennie Tweed, of Nittany, were married at the parsonage of the Epworth Memorial M. E. church in Altoona, June 4th, at 7:30 p. m. Rev. H. Willis Hartsock performed the ceremony.

—A civil service examination for postoffice employes was held in the Arbitration room at the Court House Wednesday morning. J. F. Garthoff and Cameron McGarvey were examined for carriers and D. C. Stine, of Warriorsmark, and Edwin K. Smith, of Oak Hall, for clerk.

—Mr. J. Malsolm Laurie, informs us that in a letter from Mrs. Horn of Philipsburg, she says that her little son Tom, who was so unfortunate as to break his leg, while on a visit at the home of Rev. Dr. Laurie at this place, a couple of weeks ago, is getting along nicely, and will soon be around again, good as new.

—The rain of Sunday has given Thomas Shaughnessy and his corps of assistants plenty of work, cleaning crossings and gutters, but it is all right, we wanted the rain badly and should not complain even if it did descend in too copious a manner to suit everybody, it was a good thing for the farmers, but it made the late potatoes open their eyes.

—Jonas Elwood Wagner, one of the first honor men in the graduating class at State College and whose oration on "The Supremacy of the Moral" was received with great applause, is the son of Mr. David Wagner, of Houserville, Centre county. Mr. Wagner is a young man of fine attainments and promises great future development. He is bound to make his mark and his career will be watched with interest by all who heard him on Wednesday.

—If our Town Council knew or cared for the morals and good order of the town they would install an arc light in the centre of the school commons. On warm nights it is the resort of some of the worst element of our town, who, taking advantage of the deep shadow of the trees, make it exceedingly unpleasant for those living on the opposite side of the street, or for passers-by on the sidewalk. Putting a light there would be as good an investment as can be made. If this is not within the province of the Council it is respectfully referred to the School Board.

—Our good friend, Mr. John Meese, the popular merchant on Allegheny Street, was so fortunate as to receive an invitation to the coronation ceremony of King Edward the Seventh at Westminister Abbey, London through whose powerful influence he did not state. The invitation is of unique design, and is a work of art, it is engraved upon a card about six by twelve inches, and was enclosed in an envelope specially prepared for the purpose. It is a formidable looking document, he kindly loaned it to us, anyone calling at our sanctum can see it. In addition to the invitation there is a card of instructions, giving strict rules of precedence and rank, what to be worn, etc. In regard to visitors from this country it states "Titled nobility from the United States must wear costumes that are typical of the derivation of their titles (among them Railroad Kings, Oil Barons, Napoleons of Finance, Peers of the Packing House, Earls of the Brews and Vats, Merchant, Princes and Lords of Creation) these must appear in costumes to represent coupling pins, tape measures; oil cans, horse collars, etc. It is carefully prepared to suite every case and is issued by order of The Earl Marshal.

—There are entirely too many measly cur dogs running around loose through our streets. A few weeks ago a dog belonging to William Green, colored, frightened a horse driven by Joseph Runkle, causing it to run away, demolishing the wagon and injuring Mr. Runkle to such an extent that he has hardly recovered from the effects of it up to this time. This same dog, some time Friday morning, bit a young boy by the name of Harry Casper on the leg, lacerating that member badly. The boy was taken to Dr. Harris' office, who cauterized the wound and had him sent in a carriage to his home on Half Moon Hill. This particular whelp of the canine species has done enough damage for one dog and he should be disposed of in the most summary manner, and that without delay. We don't object to a dog as long as he is fastened to a good strong post by a heavy chain, but we have no use for them when running at large, and for the safety of the community some immediate action should be taken in this particular case. Young Casper was engaged in distributing advertising matter and when going through Decatur alley the dog made the vicious attack upon him. Our advice to Billy is to get rid of this dog and to do it in the quickest way possible.

Kind Words of Greeting from Our Contemporaries.

The Bellefonte News announces that Wilbur F. Harris has retired from the editorial chair of that paper and the Republican, and John C. Miller has assumed the place. Mr. Miller starts out in a way that indicates that he intends making things lively for the readers of those papers.—Tyrone Herald.

Wilbur F. Harris, who for three years has been the editor of the Bellefonte Republican and Daily News, has laid aside the editorial pen to assume other duties, and John C. Miller will henceforth wield that mightiest of weapons in advocating clean politics, which is very much needed by the Republican party in Centre county. We wish him abundant success.—Millheim Journal.

New Man at the Desk.

John C. Miller has taken charge of the Bellefonte News and the Bellefonte Republican, in place of Wilbur F. Harris, resigned.—Lock Haven Democrat.

John C. Miller has taken charge of the Bellefonte News and the Bellefonte Republican, in place of Wilbur F. Harris, resigned. Philipsburg Journal.

EDITOR JOHN C. MILLER.

The "Daily News" on Monday evening contained the announcement of a new chief at the head of the "Bellefonte Republican" and the "Daily News" of this place, in the person of John C. Miller; the former editor and publisher, Wilbur F. Harris having resigned the position he so ably filled to be connected with the firm of Hench & Co., wholesale and retail dealers of notions, etc., at Harrisburg, Pa.

Mr. Miller is a life-long resident of our town and is well known throughout the county, at present conducting a fire insurance agency at this place, which will be continued under his direction. Genial and affable in manner, with a versatile pen and considerable experience in the political field as a candidate, party worker and notable as a parliamentarian in party conventions, his experience and numerous attainments therefore will fit him for the trying duties of editor and publisher of a political local newspaper.

With all his political shortcomings we admire his personality and welcome him in the fraternity of newspaperdom. We would about as soon give him a political flaying as anyone we know of, as he always comes up smiling.

We hope that editorial duties will prove congenial and attractive, and alluring in worldly treasurers. Brother Miller, we greet you with a hearty "Welcome."—Centre Democrat.

A NEW EDITOR FOR THE REPUBLICAN.

Our friend, Mr. John C. Miller, he who has presided over several Hastings county conventions, been delegate to Independent Republican State gatherings and is at present chairman of the Union party committee, has broken out in a new place—that of editor and publisher of Gov. Hastings' organ—the "Republican" of this place. Mr. Harris, who has filled the position of editor since that journal came into the control of the ex-Governor, tired of the work and located in business at Harrisburg a few weeks ago. Mr. Miller, who succeeds him, has the ability to make a first-class paper; the courage to say what he thinks; the honesty to tell considerably more truth than most editors of Republican papers are used to and we have no doubt will liven up the old "Republican" in a way that will rejoice the hearts of the followers of doubtful Daniel in this section.

We hope he may find his new position both pleasant and profitable and that he may be able to preserve his political manhood while he is at the doubtful job of supporting a party domination and controlled by the Republican State machine. —Democratic Watchman.

Wilbur F. Harris, after an efficient service of about three years as editor of the "Bellefonte Republican," has laid down his pencil and accepted a position with I. N. Hench & Co., wholesale merchants of Harrisburg. John C. Miller, of Bellefonte, has taken his place in the editorial chair and will no doubt sustain the high position of the paper from an editorial standpoint. Here's our hand, John. May you soon, with the rest of us, learn

"To know how little can be known.
To see all others' faults and know our own."

—Keystone Gazette.

MILLER SUCCEEDS HARRIS.

John C. Miller succeeds Wilbur F. Harris as editor of the "Daily News" and "Bellefonte Republican." Mr. Miller is a new man in the newspaper business, but no doubt will make a success in his new venture. The "Daily News" is deserving of a higher appreciation than is generally given it.—Centre Hall Reporter.

ASSUMES EDITORIAL DUTIES.

Monday's Bellefonte "Daily News" announces that Mr. Wilbur F. Harris, who for three years has edited the "Bellefonte Republican" and "Daily News" in a creditable way, has decided to quit pushing the editorial pencil and take up the duties of a responsible position in Harrisburg.

Mr. John C. Miller, who has conducted an insurance agency in Bellefonte for a number of years, will occupy the editor's chair. In his announcement he says: We will deprecate factional dissension in our party and will endeavor to heal every break that may be in our ranks." Success in your venture, John.—Howard Hustler.

Wilbur F. Harris, who for many years occupied the editorial chair of the "Bellefonte Republican," has resigned his position owing to other interests that needed his attention. He is succeeded by Mr. John C. Miller, who will hereafter wield the pen on that paper. We wish him success.—Lewisburg Chronicle.

Wilbur F. Harris has retired from the editorial chair of the Bellefonte "News" and "Republican" and will be succeeded by John C. Miller, of Bellefonte.—Tyrone Times.

Lightning Struck the House.

During the storm early Friday morning the house of Torrence Kessinger at Salona was struck by lightning. Mrs. Kessinger was up at the time putting down the windows. When the roof caught fire, Mr. Kessinger, with presence of mind, directed Mrs. Kessinger to take the children by the hand down stairs. He then procured buckets of water and hurried to the attic and extinguished the flames. Fortunately, the heavy rain prevented the flames from burning on the outside, but they were making considerable headway on the inside. Mr. Kessinger's coolness, after being wakened in the night to find his house on fire, undoubtedly saved the house from great damage.

A quantity of soot which was in the chimney was forced out by the lightening stroke through the pipe hole in the chimney into the dining room. The walls, carpet and furniture were thickly covered.

Dr. Swallow Will Not Prosecute His Appeal.

In a public letter to Bishop Andrews, Rev. Dr. S. C. Swallow gives notice that he will not prosecute his appeal from that part of the verdict of the Bellefonte conference which found that he should be openly reproved by Bishop Walden.

In a published card signed by both Rev. Dr. Swallow and Presiding Elder Yocum all charges, specifications, statements and publications derogatory to the character of each are withdrawn.

Died from Her Injuries.

After lingering for two days little Maria Steele, who was so terribly burned while playing with lighted paper at her parents' home on South Spring street, Tuesday morning, passed away at ten minutes of 1 o'clock Thursday. She had suffered very much but the end came peacefully and she quietly passed to that great beyond where suffering ceases and the weary are at rest.

She was three years of age and was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Steele.

The Oldest Wine Grower.

Mr. Speer has been long and favorably known as the first grape grower and wine producer in America. His 56 acres of the Oporto vines at Passaic, N. J., are trailed on three hundred miles of wire. Northern New Jersey soil abounds in iron the same as in the Port wine districts of Portugal.

That is the reason Speer's Wine from Oporto Grape grown here are so rich and valuable especially for the weak and debilitated.

—Dr. R. G. H. Hayes informs our reporter that up to the hour of going to press none of the Bellefonte contingent who had gone to the Harrisburg convention have been taken to his hospital for repairs. He had made arrangements to accommodate the whole outfit, and had provided nurses, ice, etc., in expectation of having a grand opening. Don't be discouraged, Doctor, it will not be long till the Erie delegation will need looking after.

Interesting to Asthma Sufferers.

Daniel Bante, of Otterville, Iowa, writes: "I have had asthma for three or four years and have tried about all the cough and asthma cures in the market and have received treatment from physicians in New York and other cities, but got very little benefit until I tried Foley's Honey and Tar which gave me immediate relief and I will never be without it in my house. I sincerely recommend it to all." C. M. Parrish.

—Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Wetzel, of Willowbank street, are rejoicing over the arrival one day this week of a baby boy which came to gladden and brighten their home in the future.

CASTORIA.
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

Leads Them All.

"One Minute Cough Cure beats all other medicines I ever tried for coughs colds, croup and throat and lung troubles," says D. Scott Currin of Loganton Pa. One Minute Cough Cure is the only absolutely safe cough remedy which acts immediately. Mothers everywhere testify to the good it has done their little ones. Croup is so sudden in its attacks that the doctor often arrives too late. It yields at once to One Minute Cough Cure Pleasant to take. Children like it. Sure cure for grip, bronchitis, coughs. C. M. Parrish.

Old-fashioned Training

Its Strong and Weak Points.

The strong point of the old-fashioned training was the stress laid upon morality and virtue. "Be good and you'll be happy," was the common precept set before the growing child. But as the girl grew up to maidenhood she was often sorely puzzled to reconcile those past teachings with her present condition. She was good. Her soul was pure as the lillies of her garden. Her heart was undefiled. And yet she was desperatly unhappy by reason of physical ailments common to women.

This was the weak side of old-fashioned training: It ignored the needs and requirements of the body. All its effort was to guide the heart and mind. The body might stumble along anyhow, and it generally did.

Many a sweet-faced, modest-minded young girl has had her first doubts of the goodness of Providence come in through the door of physical suffering.

"Why must I suffer in this way?" she asks, "Why does my back ache, my head throb and my side pain, so that I am fain to creep away into a darkened room and forego the pleasures which belong to my season of life?"

NO ANSWER COMES

as a rule to these questions. The young woman looks around and sees scores of similar sufferers. She is told it is a part of the burden laid upon women, and she shapes her shoulders to her heavy load.

This is all a mistake. Proper training, proper physical care would many times prevent these miserable conditions. But in any case, however distressing the present condition, it can be cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, if it is a disease curable by medicine.

"I write a few lines to thank you for your advice and grand remedies, to which I owe my health, and perhaps my life," says Miss Flora I. Greer, of 107 Howe Street, Akron, Ohio. "My trouble started during my childhood, but did not prove serious until 1895, when I met with an accident caused by a horse running away. From that time I did not see a well day. I suffered at every monthly period with terrible headache, irritation of the spine and pains in my heels so I could not bear them resting on the softest pillow. What I suffered pen could never describe. I had soreness through my hips and ovaries all the time and constant backache. Was afraid to be alone, imagined that every one hated me, and everything looked like a mountain. One doctor would tell me one thing ailed me, another would say something altogether different, but they only relieved me. I then wrote you in April, 1899, through the advice of a neighbor, and followed your advice from April to July. I took five bottles of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and four of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and five vials of 'Pellets.' Have not had a single symptom of my old trouble so far. Can sleep good nights, work hard, and can eat solid and substantial food without distress. There are several of my friends taking your medicines with the best results since they have seen how they helped me.

"If any one wishes to know more of my case and will enclose a stamp I will answer any question they wish to ask."

HEALTH FOR WOMEN.

The use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has brought health to thousands of hopeless women. If you are sick it will almost surely bring health to you. In all the hundreds of thousands who have used "Favorite Prescription" for womanly ills, only two in every hundred have failed of a perfect and permanent cure. And even these two in every hundred have been benefited, their pains eased, their burdens lightened, their lives made happier.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription establishes regularity, dries enfeebling and unhealthy drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. From the first change of life, when the girl becomes a woman to the last change of life it is a "Godsend to women" as a preservative of health and a cure for womanly ills.

"Your letter just received," writes Miss Rose Kilfether, of 43 West Sharpnack St., Germantown, Philadelphia, Pa. "Words fail to express how thankful I am to you for your advice. I must confess that for the length of time I have been using your medicine I have found it to be the most wonderful and best remedy for female troubles that I ever have tried. Sorry I did not know of your 'Favorite Prescription' years ago, but will gladly tell my friends who are suffering, of your wonderful medicine."

There is no alcohol in "Favorite Prescription" and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine and all other narcotics.

Sick and ailing women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence held as sacred and womanly confidences guarded by the same strict professional privacy which is observed in the personal consultations of Dr. Pierce and his staff (numbering nearly a score of physicians) at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

It sometimes happens that the dealer tempted by the little more profit paid by less successful preparations, will try to press a substitute upon the customer, claiming that "it is just as good as Pierce's." It is well to remember at such a time, that the claims of superiority made for Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription do not rest on mere words, but upon cures. Thousands of weak women made strong and sick women made well testify to its superiority over other put-up medicines for women.

THE BIBLE OF THE BODY,

is a title which has been aptly applied to Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. In plain English it points the way to womanly health and happiness, and fully discusses and illuminates those great and grave questions which involve the well-being of women. This great work, containing 1008 large pages, and over seven hundred illustrations, is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. For the volume bound in durable cloth send 31 one-cent stamps, or only 21 stamps for the book in paper-covers. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

—Hecla Park was opened Friday by two picnic parties from Bellefonte. The one consisted of Mrs. John Harper, Mrs. C. M. MINERS VERY ACTIVE

Meeting With Success in Efforts to Bring Out All Men Yet Employed.

ARE AFTER THE FIRE BOSSES

A Superintendent of one of the Big Corporations Complains of "Secret Intimidation."

STRIKERS ADMIT TRYING BOYCOTT

WILKESBARRE, June 14.—The work of the strikers in attempting to bring out all men who are still in the employ of the coal companiee goes steadily on. Their campaigns against the engineers, firemen and pumpmen is nearly over, most of these men being out and the union is now paying more attention to the fire bosses, clerks and others, who have taken the places of those who quit. Pressure is being brought to bear on them in every possible way. Quite a number of the fire bosses throughout the region have already stopped work because they had been asked to take strikers' places, and at a meeting held here this afternoon about a dozen more consented to join the strikers. The labors leaders hope to have more out by Monday. The company officials are aware of the attack on the fire bosses and they are making every effort to hold them.

The miners' union is now planning to expel from the organization all engineers, firemen and pumpmen who have not yet obeyed the strike order. They have been given until Saturday night to join the strikers and if they do not quit they will be expelled and their names published throughout the region as "unfair" workmen.

The officials of coal companies in this region are complaining of what they call "secret intimidation of the families of workmen who have remained loyal to their employers." In an interview with the correspondent of the Associated Press Friday the superintendent of one of the largest coal companies in the entire bard coal belt said:

"I am ready to believe that the leaders of the strike are sincerely attempting to prevent open violence, but there is now a form of annoyance that is more effective than is the open intimidation of our employes. It is the secret intimidation of the wives and children of men who are willing to work to support them. Information that is absolutely trustworthy has reached us that the local unions in various mining settlements are passing resolutions calling upon certain tradesmen in the community not to supply food to the families of those men who are still at work. If they do not carry out these resolutions the storekeepers are threatened with a boycott which will ruin them forever in the particular community they may now be living. Most of the husbands and male support of these families dare not go near collieries for fear of bodily harm and are living in quarters provided by us. Consequently the women and children cannot protect themselves. Every day we get appeals from these families, and in every instance the company takes it upon itself to see that they shall not hereafter be cut off from their daily supply of the necessaries of life."

Nothing developed here Friday which in any way changed the situation.

President Mitchell had nothing to give out regarding the West Virginia situation.

A Real Friend.

"I suffered from dyspepsia and indigestion for fifteen years," says W. T. Sturdevant of Merry Oaks, N. C. "After I had tried many doctors and medicines to no avail one of my friends persuaded me to try Kodol. It gave immediate relief. I can eat almost anything I want now and my digestion is good. I cheerfully recommend Kodol." Don't try to cure stomach trouble by dieting. That only further weakens the system. You need wholesome, strengthening food. Kodol enables you to assimilate what you eat by digesting it without the stomach's aid. C. M. Parrish.

—Just as we were beginning to think, that under the new management, the REPUBLICAN would move along smoothly, and that the people were fairly well satisfied with the policy we were trying to carry out, of giving the best and most reliable news we could obtain, our hopes were all dispelled on Friday, when we were held up in front of Beck's barber shop by John M. Dale, John Blanchard, John M. Shugert and Ed. L. Hoy, when for the first time we realized that it is impossible for an editor to please everybody, they taking exceptions to almost everything that has appeared in our columns, even to the kidney cure advertisements, so after due and careful consideration, in order that we may offend none, and please all; have decided that hereafter we will submit all articles for publication, to these gentlemen for their approval or disapproval—Well perhaps! May be.

Warning!

If you have kidney or bladder trouble and do not use Foley's Kidney Cure, you will have only yourself to blame for results, as it positively cures all forms of kidney and bladder diseases. C. M. Parrish.

A Lost Engine.

There is scarcely a day passes that we do not hear of something being lost. Very often it is money or other kinds of property, it may be health or opportunity, life or limb, and even hope, hairpins and hair often disappear. Umbrellas are occasionally lost (though mostly borrowed and never returned) and in a few rare instances we have heard of where persons have lost their temper. But this is not the kind of loss we wish to refer to. They are entirely too commonplace for the purpose of this article. We want to mention a great big loss.

Owing to increased business at the Bellefonte furnace and the immense amount of freight to be handled the rolling stock of the Central Railroad was entirely inadequate to haul the great amount of material coming in and going out over the road, so it became necessary to procure another locomotive. Accordingly, Superintendent Gephart went to a western city a few weeks ago and purchased one. He had it shipped to Bellefonte, and ordinarily it should have taken only two or three days to reach here, but after the time had passed for it to arrive the officials at this end commenced to inquire concerning it, but could learn nothing of its whereabouts. The more they tried to investigate the matter the deeper the mystery grows. No trace of it can be found and they are in a quandary to know what to do. They know it was bought and shipped, but where is it? It is certainly a case of lost, strayed or stolen, but who would steal a locomotive? and it could have hardly strayed off of its own accord, so it is evidently a clear case of "lost."

After making the purchase Mr. Gephart did not return home until Saturday evening, and he, no doubt, will unravel the mystery, that we may be able in our next issue to inform our readers that the lost has been found.

Was Wasting Away.

The following letter from Robert R Watts, of Salem, Mo., is instructive: "I have been troubled with kidney disease for the last five years, I lost flesh and never felt well and doctored with leading physicians and tried all remedies suggested without relief. Finally I tried Foley's Kidney Cure and less than two bottles completely cured me and I am now sound and well."

—Tommy Shaughnesey, street commissioner, etc., was an early caller Saturday morning at our sanctum, and he gave us to understand that it was not his fault that the sewer from School House Commons to the Armory was built hind end before. He says that he simply followed directions when it was made, so he must be exonerated from all blame in the matter. But Tommie how about the bed of the creek along the Bush House? Is that within your jurisdiction? The late flood washed so much stone and mud at that place, that the water does not have a chance to carry away the sewerage from the Hotel. This should be looked after as it might be the cause of sickness, and we assure you that it is a great annoyance, and very disagreable, to people living in that vicinity.

Ready to Yield.

"I used DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve for piles and found it a certain cure," says S. R. Meredith, Willow Grove, Del. Operations unnecessary to cure piles. They always yield to DeWitts Witch Hazel Salve. Cures skin diseases, all kinds of wounds. Accept no counterfeits. C. M. Parrish.

—The Milton Standard says: "A young slick-tongued individual came to Milton several weeks ago and canvassed the town selling baking powder and agreeing to frame a picture for each purchaser. From evidence at hand the indications are that he has about seventy-five victims in this vicinity, for he has about that number of pictures and ordered frames for them of Montgomery, the photographer, from whom he also rented a basement room in which he proposed to open a branch tea store next week. He left the Broadway house and took the southbound train. It is believed he went to York."

—Chronic bronchial troubles and summer coughs can be quickly relieved and cured by Foley's Honey and Tar. C. M. Parrish.

—The graduating exercises at Haverford College took place Friday. The graduating class being the largest in the history of that institution. Among the number, being John Wallace Reeder, son of Wilbur F. Reeder. The degree of Bachelor of Science was conferred upon him, and he received three prizes for breaking the record in college sports. We congratulate Wallace, on having so successfully passed through his college life, and we wish him unbounded success in all his undertakings in the future. May he be as good a man as he was a boy.

Ten Years in Bed.

R. A. Gray. J. P., Oakville, Ind., writes: "For ten years I was confined to my bed with disease of my kidneys. It was so severe that I could not move part of the time. I consulted the very best medical skill available, but could get no relief until Foley's Kidney Cure was recommended to me. It has been a Godsend to me." C. M. Parrish.

WHY SUFFER WITH NERVOUS DYSPEPSIA?

Nervous dyspepsia is a common trouble now-a-days; differs from common, ordinary, every-day indigestion, only in the cause. Common, old-fashioned indigestion comes from overfeeding, hurried eating, failure to chew the food thoroughly—a greasy, fatty, doughy, pasty diet. Nervous dyspepsia comes from hurry, worry, care, trouble or excess. The stomach nerves are weakened, they fail to regulate the stomach juices; the supply is insufficient; food is not digested; distresses; rests heavy; gets sour; repeats; ferments; gas forms; water brash occurs; the stomach becomes irritable, inflamed, painful or burns; you grow irritable, nervous, restless, morose, sullen, can't sleep, are hungry and afraid to eat, lose weight and strength. It is here Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills come as a blessing—giving so the nerves a strength they lack, and through them to the stomach the power to again properly handle and digest the food; to the system generally a new found strength and vigor—a condition that can be brought about by no other medicine known to science.

Altoona.

Mrs. James Roney, of No. 1717 Sixth avenue, Altoona, Pa., says: "I like Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills very much. I got a box and as I was far from strong and very nervous night times, I could not sleep and the digestion was sluggish. These conditions were removed and I grew strong and steady. I sleep well and the digestion is good again. it is a good medicine.

Punxsutawney.

Mrs. Joseph Johns of Elk Run, Punxsutawney, Pa., says:—I can heartily recommend Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills to any one desiring a good, solid nerve tonic. One of my family who was weak, nervous listness sleepless and lacked energy got a box and they acted splendidly, giving sleep, strength, ambition, appetite and generally giving a feeling of life and buoyancy. we think the medicine very fine.

JOHN C. MILLER

Local Department.

—A lady from Howard, made a grab at the 25 cent packages in the Racket Store windows and received in return a four dollar lamp.

—The wind storm Sunday afternoon broke the top off of one of the large, handsome, shade trees in front of Mrs. Longwell's residence on Spring Street.

—Rev. Dr. Marquis preached a scholarly sermon to a large congregation in the Presbyterian church, Sunday morning. Rev. Dr. Laurie occupied his own pulpit in the evening.

—Mr. and Mrs. David V. Steel desire (through the columns of our paper) to thank their friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy at the time of their great affliction caused by the sad death of their little daughter.

—John Weaver one of the employees at the Howard Creamery Station at this place had the misfortune of falling on some bottles, and cutting his right hand so severely that five stitches were needed to help the wounded member to heal.

—Daniel Bohn and Miss Anna Cole, both of Linden Hall, were married at the Reformed parsonage, Boalsburg, by Rev. A. A. Black, Monday evening June 9th. The groom is a son of David Bohn and the bride is a daughter of Perry Cole.

—The Wallace Brothers of Milesburg are building an annex to the Lutheran Church at Boalsburg. They also have the contract for building the large warehouse for Charles McCafferty on the corner of Potter and High streets, which Potter & Hoy will use.

—Rev. Wilford P. Shriner was a welcome visitor to our sanctum Monday and we appreciate his kind and encouraging words. Dr. Shriner is not only an able minister and good citizen, but the most congenial of men. Doctor, our latchstring is always out. Call again.

—W. S. Zeller, our popular druggist, has placed a new six-foot stone sidewalk on the Howard street side of the McManus property. This was a much needed improvement, as it was almost impossible to go along there after night without saying some cuss words, or knocking all the polish off your shoes.

—As an evidence of the growing popularity of the BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN, we were in receipt of a letter Monday from a lady living in British Columbia asking to have her name placed on our subscription list. She stated in her letter that she wanted a paper from Bellefonte that gives the news. We hope some of our friends, living nearer home, will follow her example.

—One of the pleasant features at the service in the Presbyterian church Sunday morning was a vocal solo given by Miss Rebecca Rhoads. This is the first time that Miss Rhoads has appeared before a Bellefonte audience, and she only consented to do so at the urgent request of many friends. The congregation was delighted at the sweetness and richness of her voice, and her enunciation being so perfect that every word was clear and distinct.

—The Sabbath School at Pleasant View, situated just below town, held their annual Childrens' day service, Sunday. The exercises being under the direction of Mrs. Mary L. Gray. The edifice was beautifully decorated, and the handsome little chapel building was crowded. Dr. T. C. VanTries made some appropriate remarks, after which the exercises, consisting of singing and recitations, were rendered in a most creditable manner.

—Some of these days we will make mention, in our paper, of the condition of Water Street from the bridge to the Central Railroad Station. It is almost impassible for pedestrians, and is an eye sore to the general public. Why not have at least, a temporary walk that people will not be compelled to walk through mud or dust in going and coming from the station. We will have more to say on this subject later.

—Mrs. Furst, wife of Hon. A. O. Furst, had an unpleasant experience a few days ago at Milton. She had been called to that place by the illness of her father, and was there at the time that so much damage was done to the town by the wind storm or cyclone which struck it last week. Her father's house, at which she was staying, was unroofed and the house adjoining completely demolished. We venture to say that for a short time, at least, she longed to be in her own substantial home on Linn street.

—Poor Joseph Rightnour, our zealous county detective, is having a serious time at his home on Howard street. He was out fishing last week and got into a patch of poison ivy and as a result is suffering great pain and is not worth looking at. He is under the care of Dr. T. H. Harter, of the "Keystone Gazette," assisted by Dr. Fisher, of Zion. Although belonging to different schools of practice they are working together in this particular case. Joe, we hope you will soon recover, and our advice is, don't do it again.

The Editor's Outing.

Tuesday evening we were invited by James H. Potter to take a drive behind his spanking team of bay horses, and after loading in Supt. F. H. Thomas and Farmer, Tom. Beaver for ballast, drove the party to Rock View, the delightful country home of J. Harris Hoy. Mr. Hoy, expecting us, had made all arrangements for our comfort. He had intended showing us his herd of ninety-seven Poland-China and Chester White cows, which are furnishing our citizens with such delicious milk and cream, but owing to the lateness of the hour we got only as far as his pens of Holstein and Guernsey pigs, which are new varieties in this locality. After spending a pleasant evening, in which the editor sat and listened to the chatter of the rest of his friends, who were loaded up with stories, good, bad and indifferent, some modern and others of ancient vintage, but all good, we were brought back and delivered safely at our several homes. Mr. Potter, please do it again.

Our Soldiers Monument.

We have been reliably informed that the cause of the delay in commencing work on Soldiers' Monument is, that the sculptor, who is preparing the model has not completed his work, and that the Committee is doing everything in their power to have him hasten in the matter that he may finish the model, so a start may be made. Our people are becoming very impatient, but will, no doubt, be satisfied for a short time with this explanation, but if the sculptor, whom they have selected to do the work, doesn't "sculp" a little faster had'ent they better try another one. There are plenty of them, who would like the job, and why wait a whole life time on this particular one. They say "The mills of the Gods grind slowly" but they run at lightning speed compared with this particular sculptor, who has been only two years at this work and it is still out of sight.

Happily Wedded.

Many of our citizens were greatly alarmed Tuesday night by the commotion on Half Moon Hill, not a few fearing that there would be another Mt. Pelee affair, but on investigating the cause we discovered that it was merely a few friends of William Dawson, who had called to pay their respects to him and his bride. Mr. Dawson and Miss Lizzie Mulligan were married at 8 o'clock Tuesday night at the Catholic parsonage by Rev. P. McArdle. After the ceremony they went to the home of the groom's father, where a reception was tendered them.

William is one of our good, industrious young men, and his wife is an estimable young lady. May their journey through life be one of unalloyed happiness.

A Residence Telephone.

Calls a doctor, fireman, policeman, merchant, officer—ever on duty, night, day, rain, shine; notifies you of a guest, orders the dinner, tells if they will be on time, reduces your worries, saves your temper, lessens your dangers, lengthens your life.

—Harold Kirk, son of Dr. M. A. Kirk is holding a position as clerk behind the counters of Sechler & Co.'s grocery store.
